American Way of Life

Foreword

"American Way of Life"—what is it? It's the democratic form of government, freedom of choice, the highest ideals of self-determination. It's the band playing "On Sapulpa," crowning of homecoming queen, expectation before an important game, last-minute cramming for that crucial test. It's hot dogs, ice cream, television, baseball, Beatles records and Youth Center on Friday nights.

American Way of Life is just that: American. No other country in the world can make that claim. Probably no other place exemplifies the American Way better than American schools, and SHS is certainly no exception. Scenes enacted on these pages can be found in nearly every school in the land, but still these are unique, different, OURS.

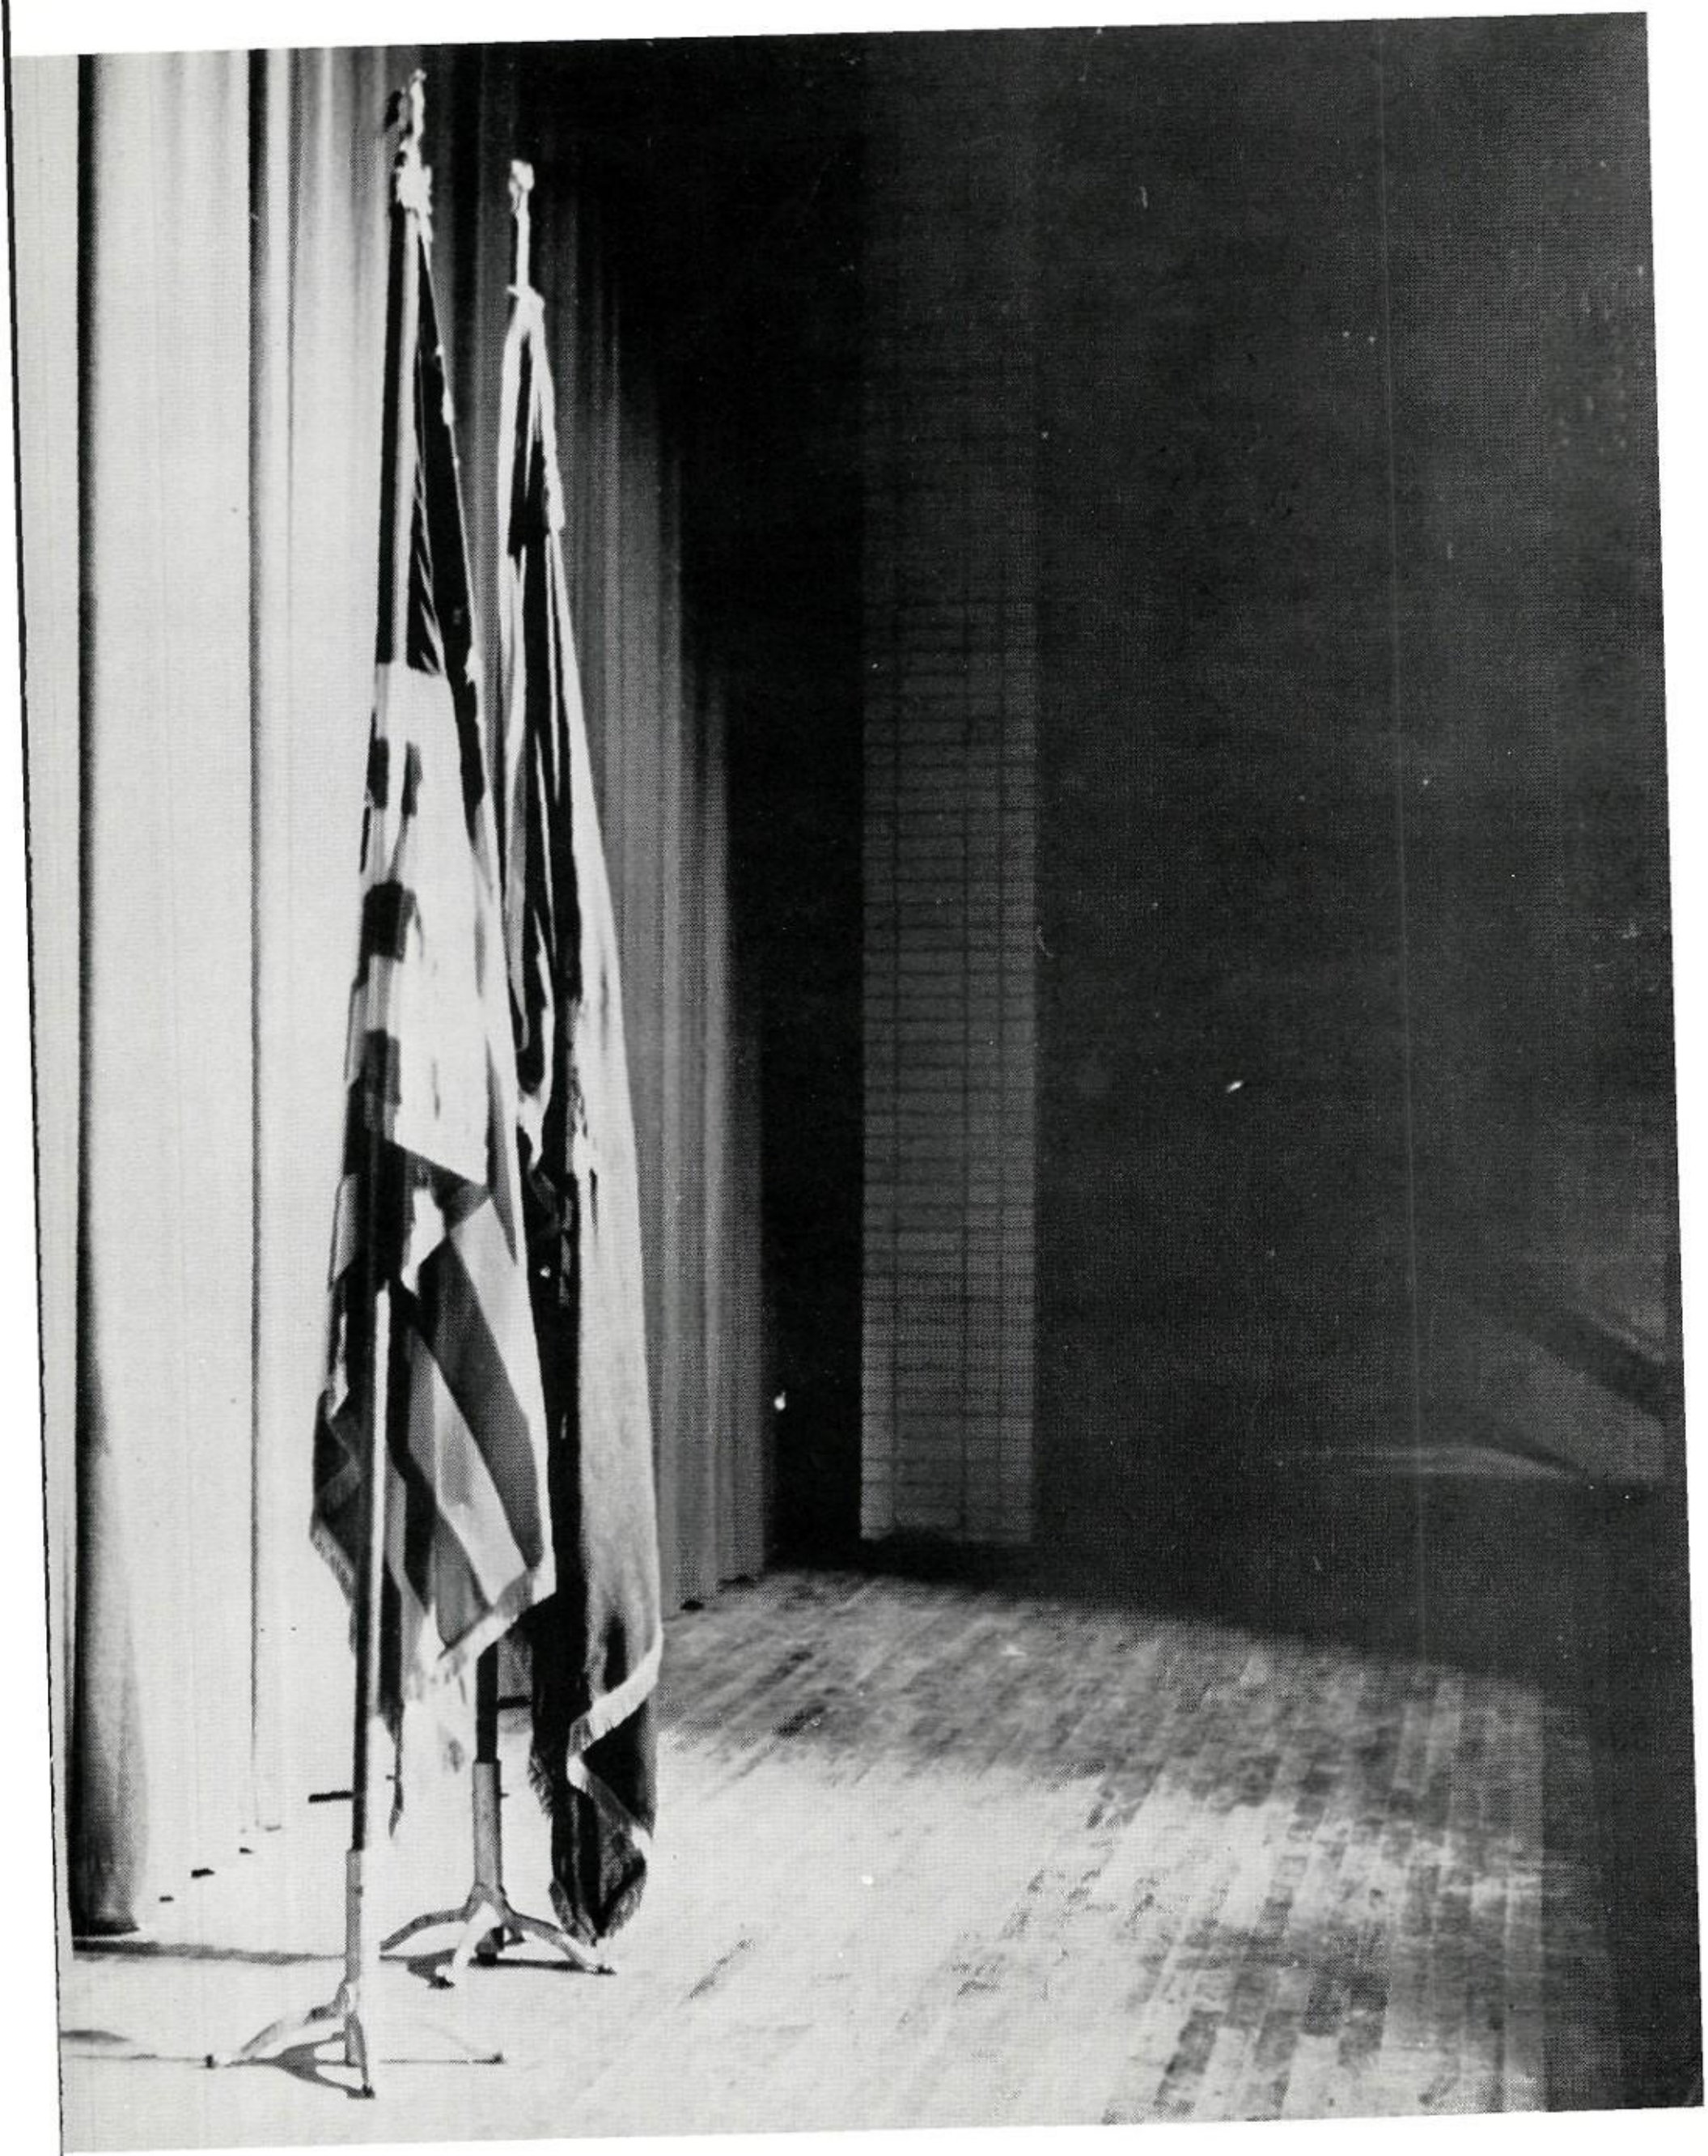
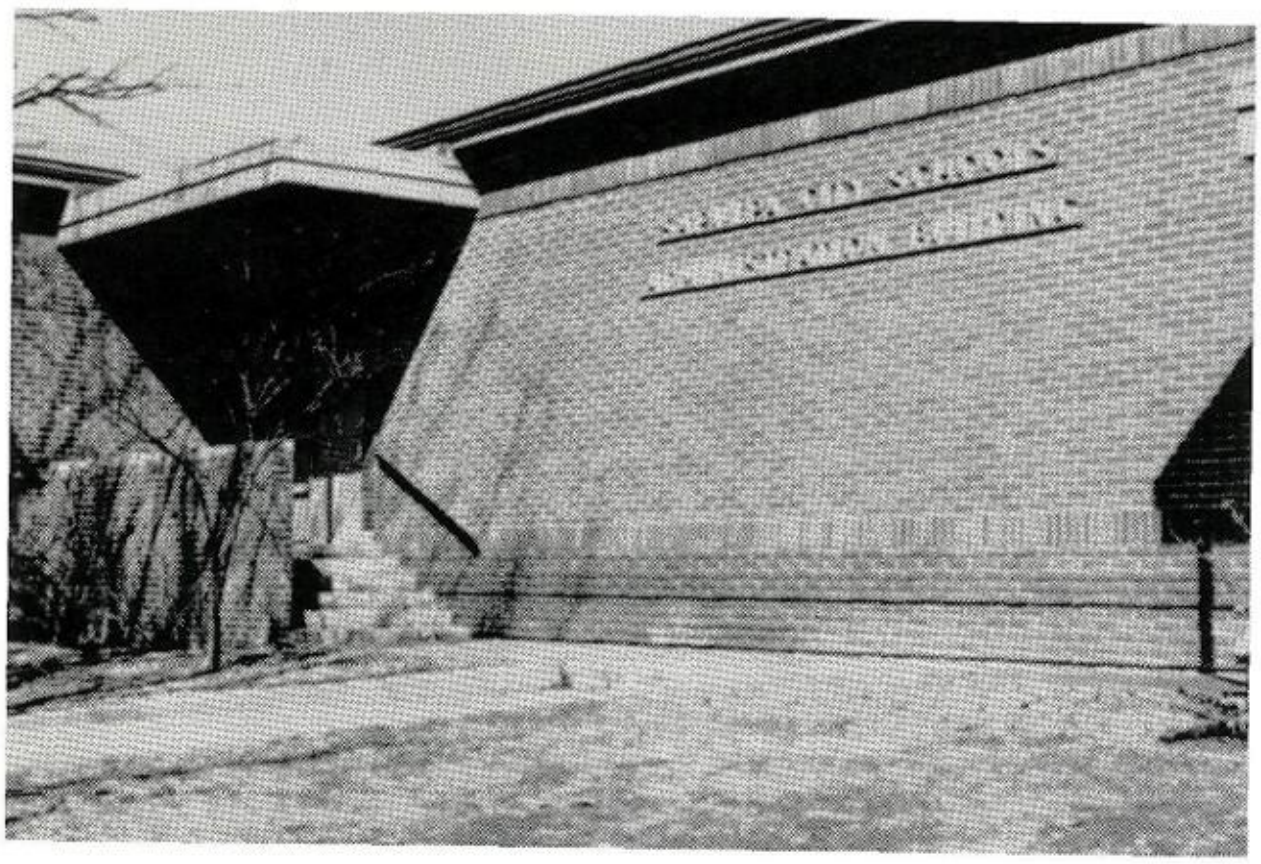
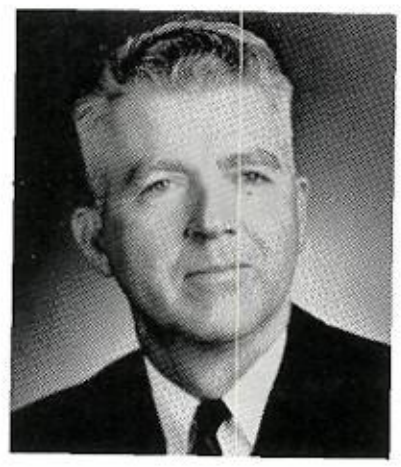
Administration

For every group of people there must be those who are specifically trained to accept the responsibility of guiding others. This is the purpose of our school's administration. Just as our President and Congress govern our nation, the Superintendent and Board Members direct our school. Our American way of life has proven this division of authority to be the flexible program to follow in administering school policies.

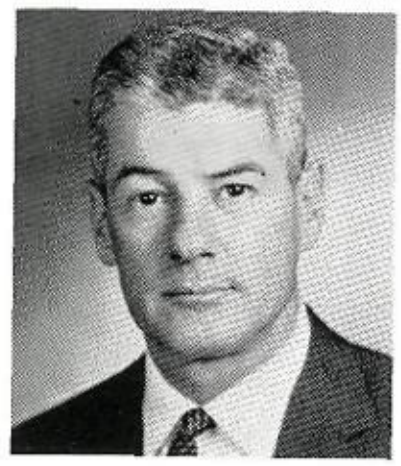




Board of Education Links Community With Education



CHARLES B. TEEL
President



LOUIS V. STUART

Superintendent Presides

Mr. Vaughn pauses as secretary, Mrs. Garrison, takes telephone message.

In every American's life, there is one individual who is essential in successfully carrying out everyday affairs. In a school system this is also true.

Mr. Vaughn, Superintendent, fills this position in our school. It is through his unceasing effort that the School Board, faculty, and students can successfully complete the school year.

Mr. Vaughn discusses plans with Mr. Mullen, Administrative Assistant

Visitors to Mr. Vaughn are always greeted with a cheerful word and a happy smile.

JOHN A. COCKRUM

As with our great nation so did Sapulpa High School undergo transition with continuity.

Sapulpa High School is indeed fortunate to have John Cockrum as its new principal. He served as Junior High Principal before replacing B. Bomgardner, who resigned during the year.

Whenever you see Mr. Cockrum, you may be sure that he is about some Sapulpa High business. He is always present at meetings, dances, ball games, and banquets. Mr. Cockrum is a "shining example" of school spirit.

Being principal requires devotion to one's work and love of students. Mr. Cockrum is vitally interested in every facet of Sapulpa High life.

Principal Co-ordinates

Mr. Cockrum and Miss Hilderbrand discuss meeting plans.

Mr. Cockrum checks enrollment figures with Mrs. Mitchell.

Mr. Bomgardner chats with faculty member before departing.

MR. C. W. MULLEN
Administrative Assistant

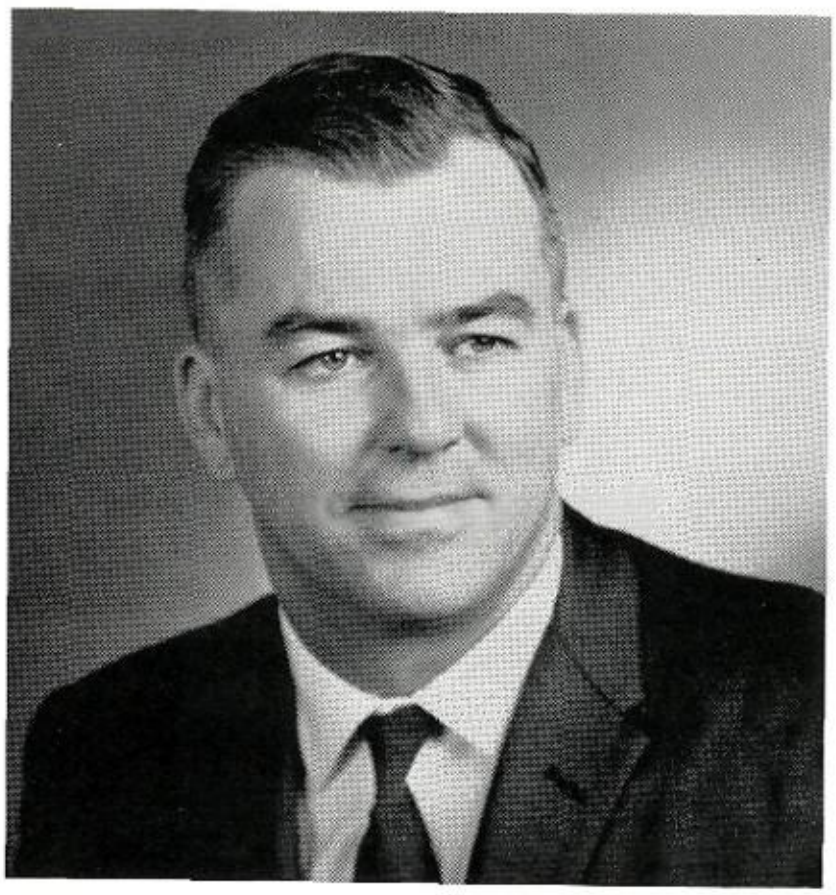
Mr. Mullen supervises the elementary schools and assists the Superintendent in co-ordinating the entire Sapulpa Public School System.

Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Garrison discuss Lunchroom finances.

BETTY MITCHELL
High School Registrar

MARIE GARRISON
Secretary to Superintendent

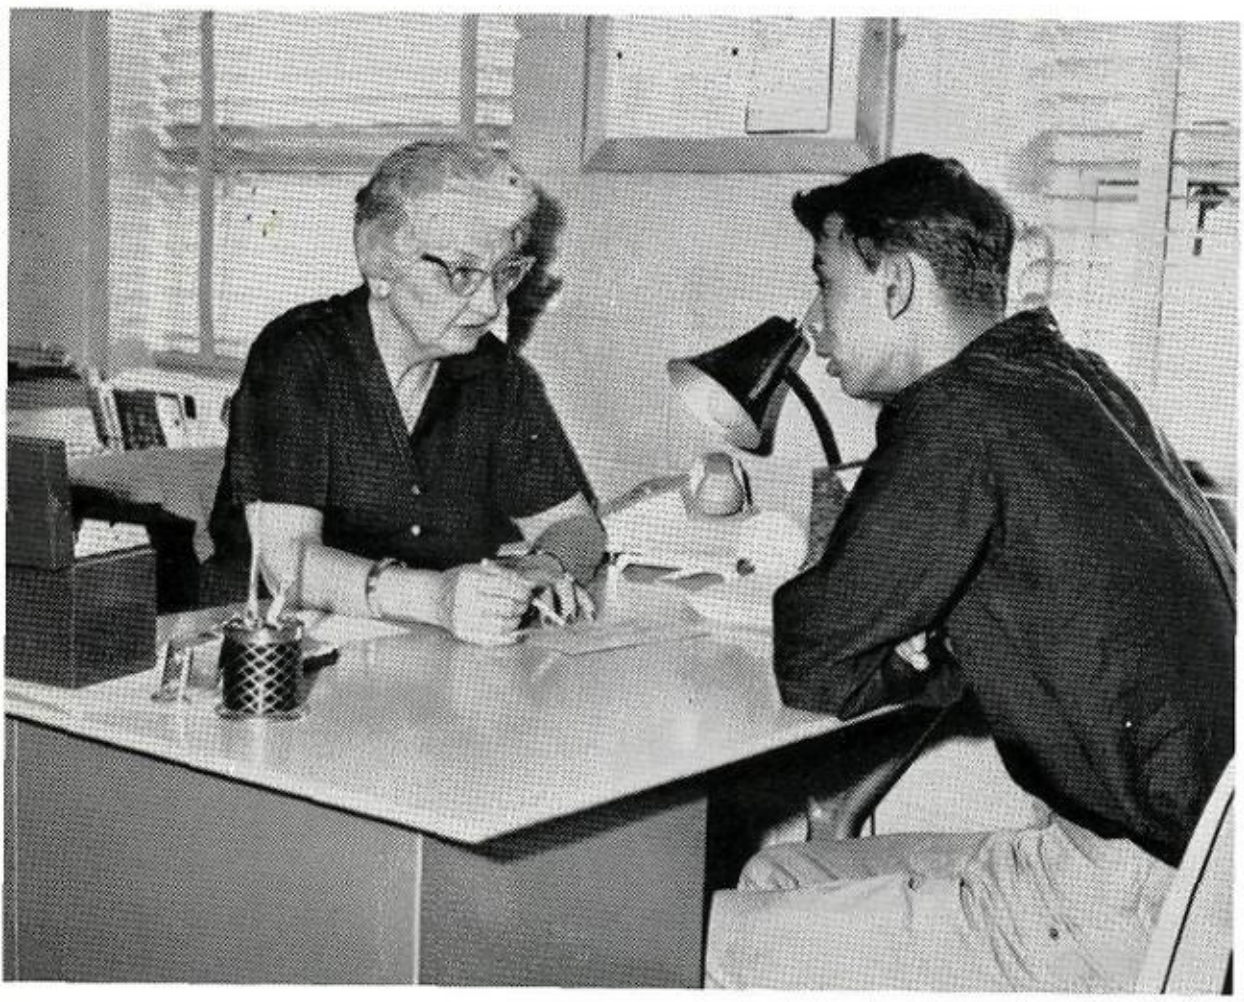
BOBBYE CARR
Financial Secretary
Registrar's Office



Mr. Clay Carr, Boys' Counselor, has many duties. Giving counsel to the boys, helping with enrollment plans, keeping attendance records are many of the duties Mr. Carr carries out.

Giving girls wise counsel, providing test information, college bulletins and teaching a Psychology class are just a few of the many important duties that Miss Mildred Fisher, Girls' Counselor performs.

Advisors Counsel and Assist



Miss Fisher helps student plan school schedule.

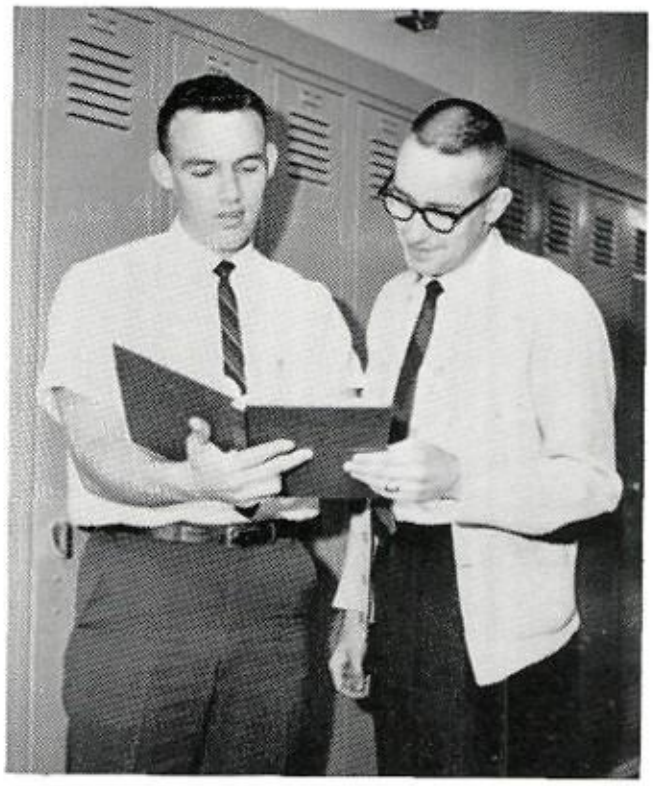
Social Studies Foster Interest in Current Events

U.S. History, world history, international problems, sociology, and psychology are the courses offered by the social studies department. Understanding and appreciation of history, government, and world affairs are major aims of the department. By studying our heritage and patriotism, SHS students gain respect for America and a sense of responsibility toward a prosperous adult life.



Mr. Ken Murray and student teacher Bert Patrick pause in hall between classes to go over notes.

Language Arts Serve as Foundation for Future

Language Arts serve as a foundation for future education and cultural development. English provides the knowledge necessary for effective communication in our daily lives. Students study Latin and Spanish in the foreign language laboratory, which contains the latest recording devices. This equipment enables students to perfect diction as well as grammar. Speech classes prepare students for public speaking and for enjoying the dramatic arts.

Mrs. Irvin inspires her sophomore English classes to do more than read "Julius Caesar." John Hodges, Waldon Wells, and Brenda Vaughn admire projects completed during second semester.

Prof. Carter lectures her Spanish II class.

Curriculum

Training is offered in areas other than the basic academic courses. Home economics, diversified occupations, agriculture, auto mechanics, industrial arts, mechanical drawing, and driver education prepare students for their future roles. The library gives students access to the world of knowledge. A large number of students take advantage of at least one of these specialized courses.

Math courses teach straight-forward thinking and work with logic and reason. Students make practical application of the abstractions of advanced math. Curriculum includes algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Our math department strives to prepare intellectually able students for even more advanced work in mathematics.

Biology, physics, chemistry, botany, and zoology emphasize science as it exists today. In these courses students delve into the world of scientific theories, facts, and hypotheses. Students gain a basic understanding of the methods of science, which are essential to future scientific work, or just to live well in our world today.

Sapulpa High School Service Staff

ESTELLA T. BLAKE
Lunchroom Coordinator

KATE VAN WINKLE
Lunchroom Supervisor

The cafeteria force is preparing a daily lunch. Left to right are Janie Hayter, Mildred Adams, Mary Massey, Kate VanWinkle, and Grace Oliver.

Preparing daily meals for our students and faculty is only a part of the duties performed by the cafeteria staff. Their services include extra functions for the faculty such as parties given on special occasions.

Our custodians are on duty at all times to keep the school in excellent condition. They are always ready to help us.

These women are setting the table with Christmas decorations. Left to right are Kate VanWinkle, Alynne Giese, Mary Massey, Mildred Adams, and Grace Oliver.

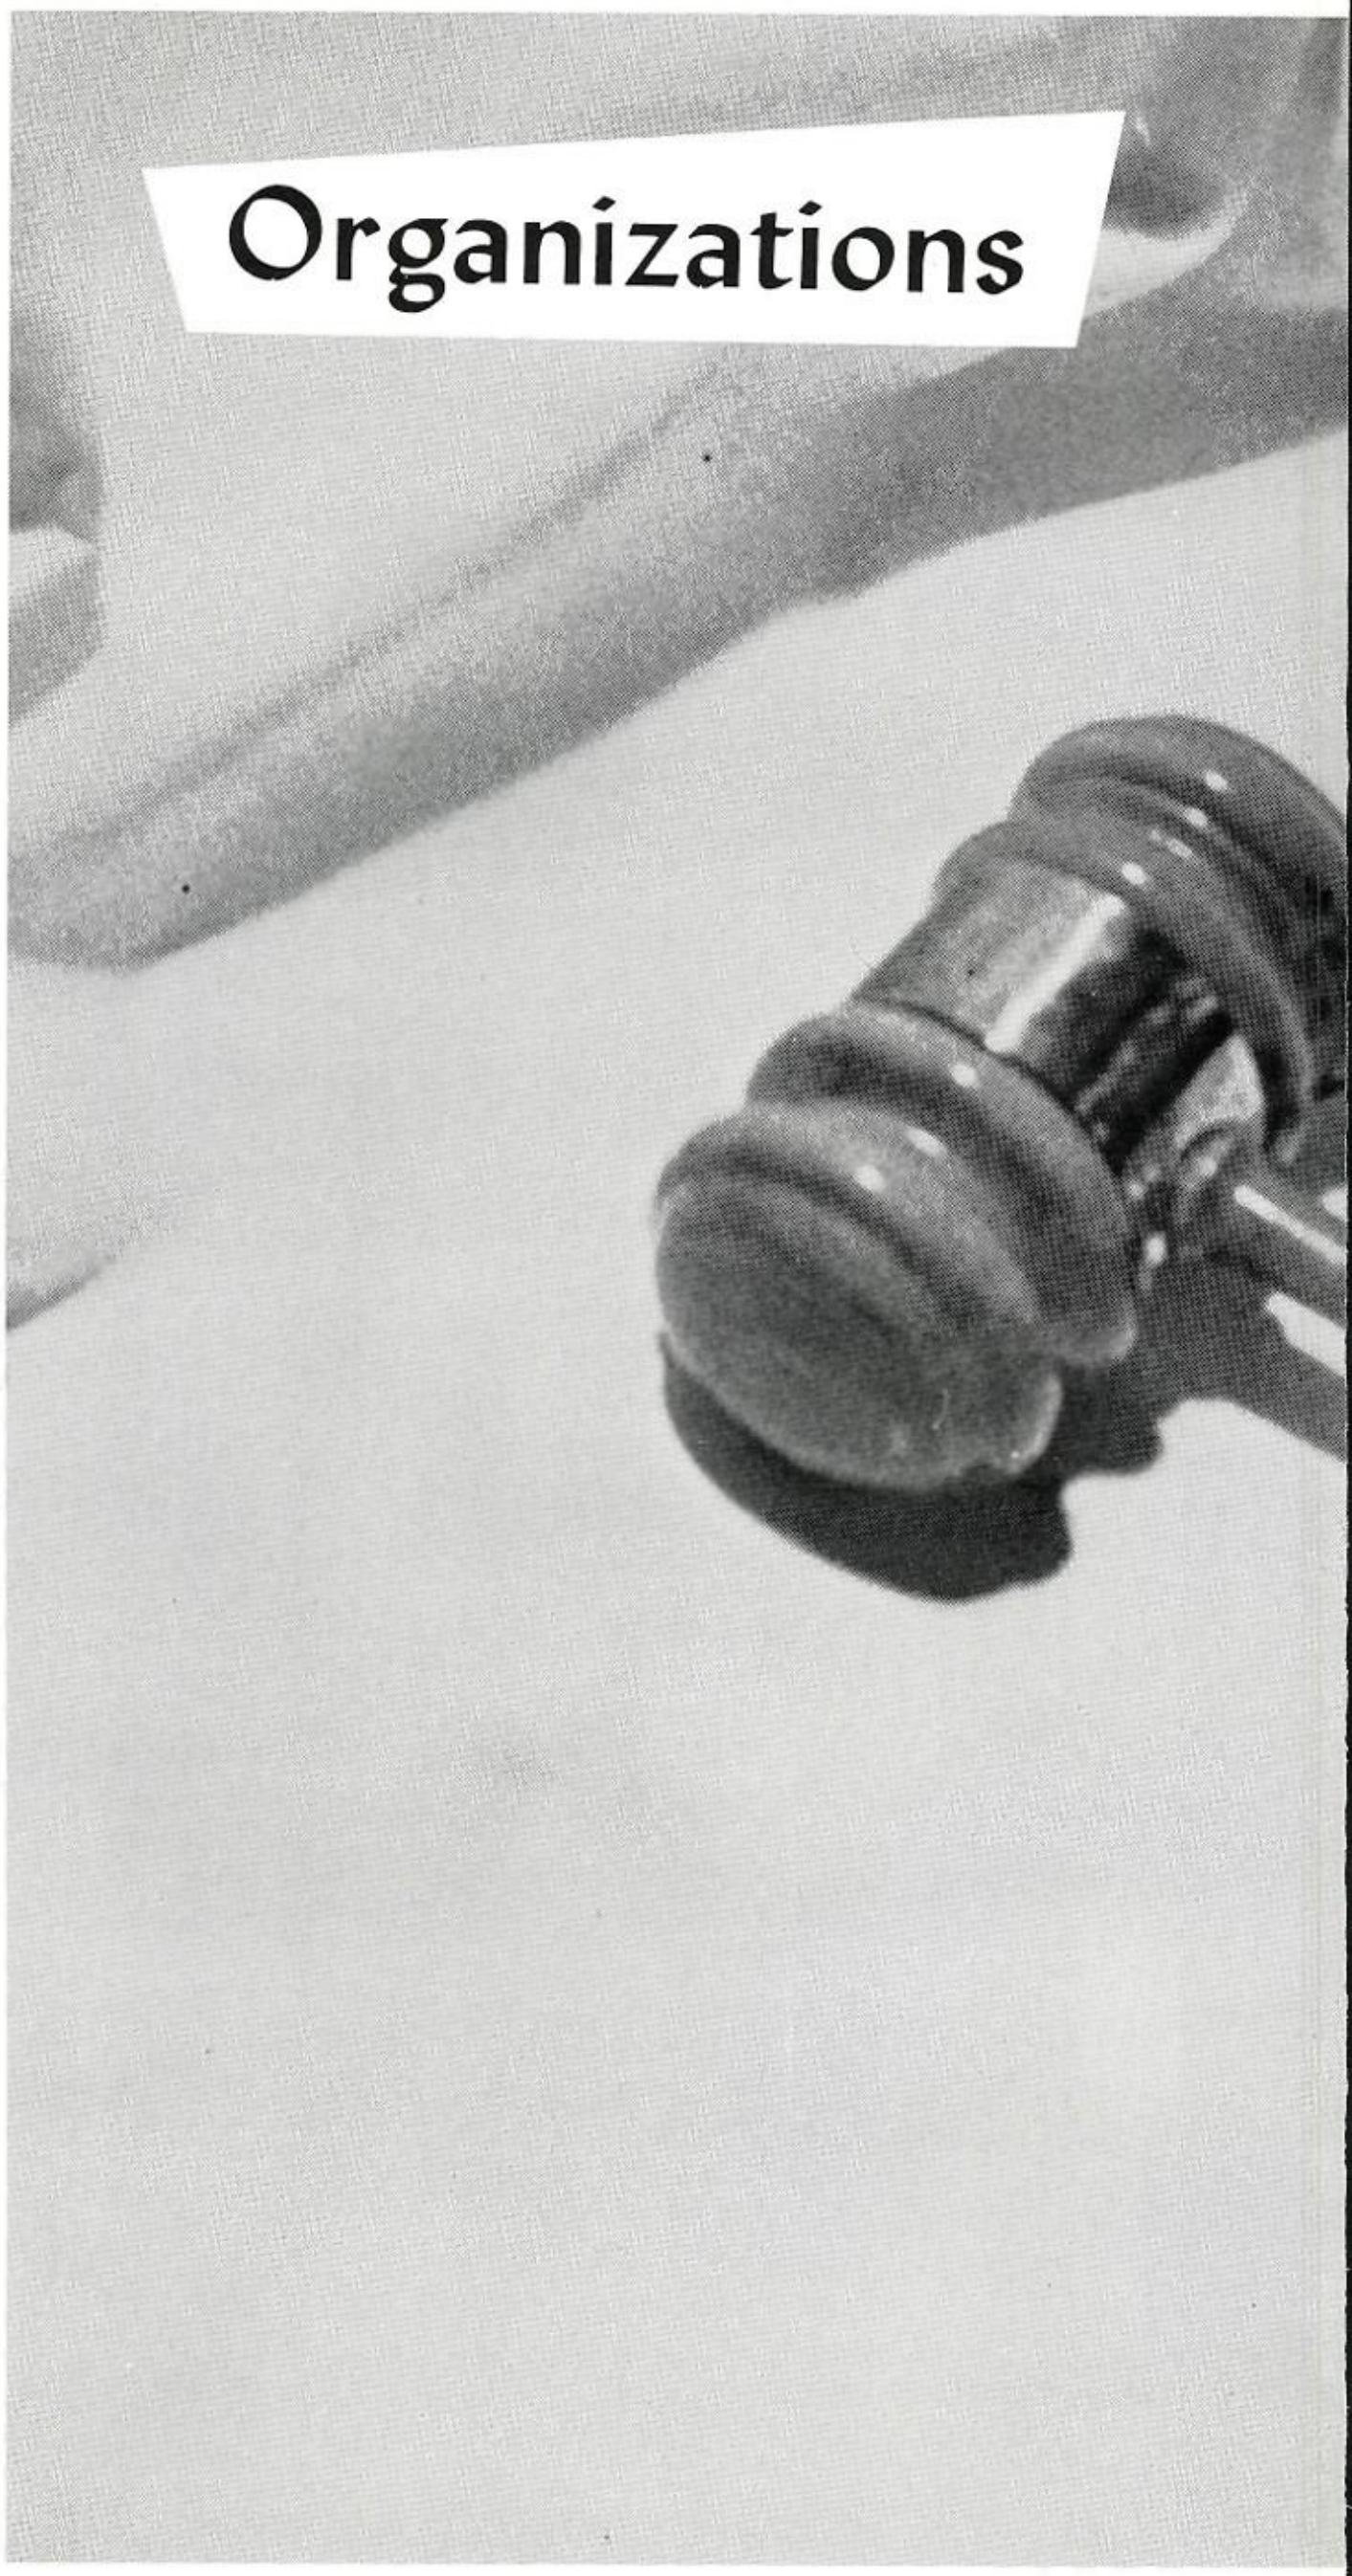
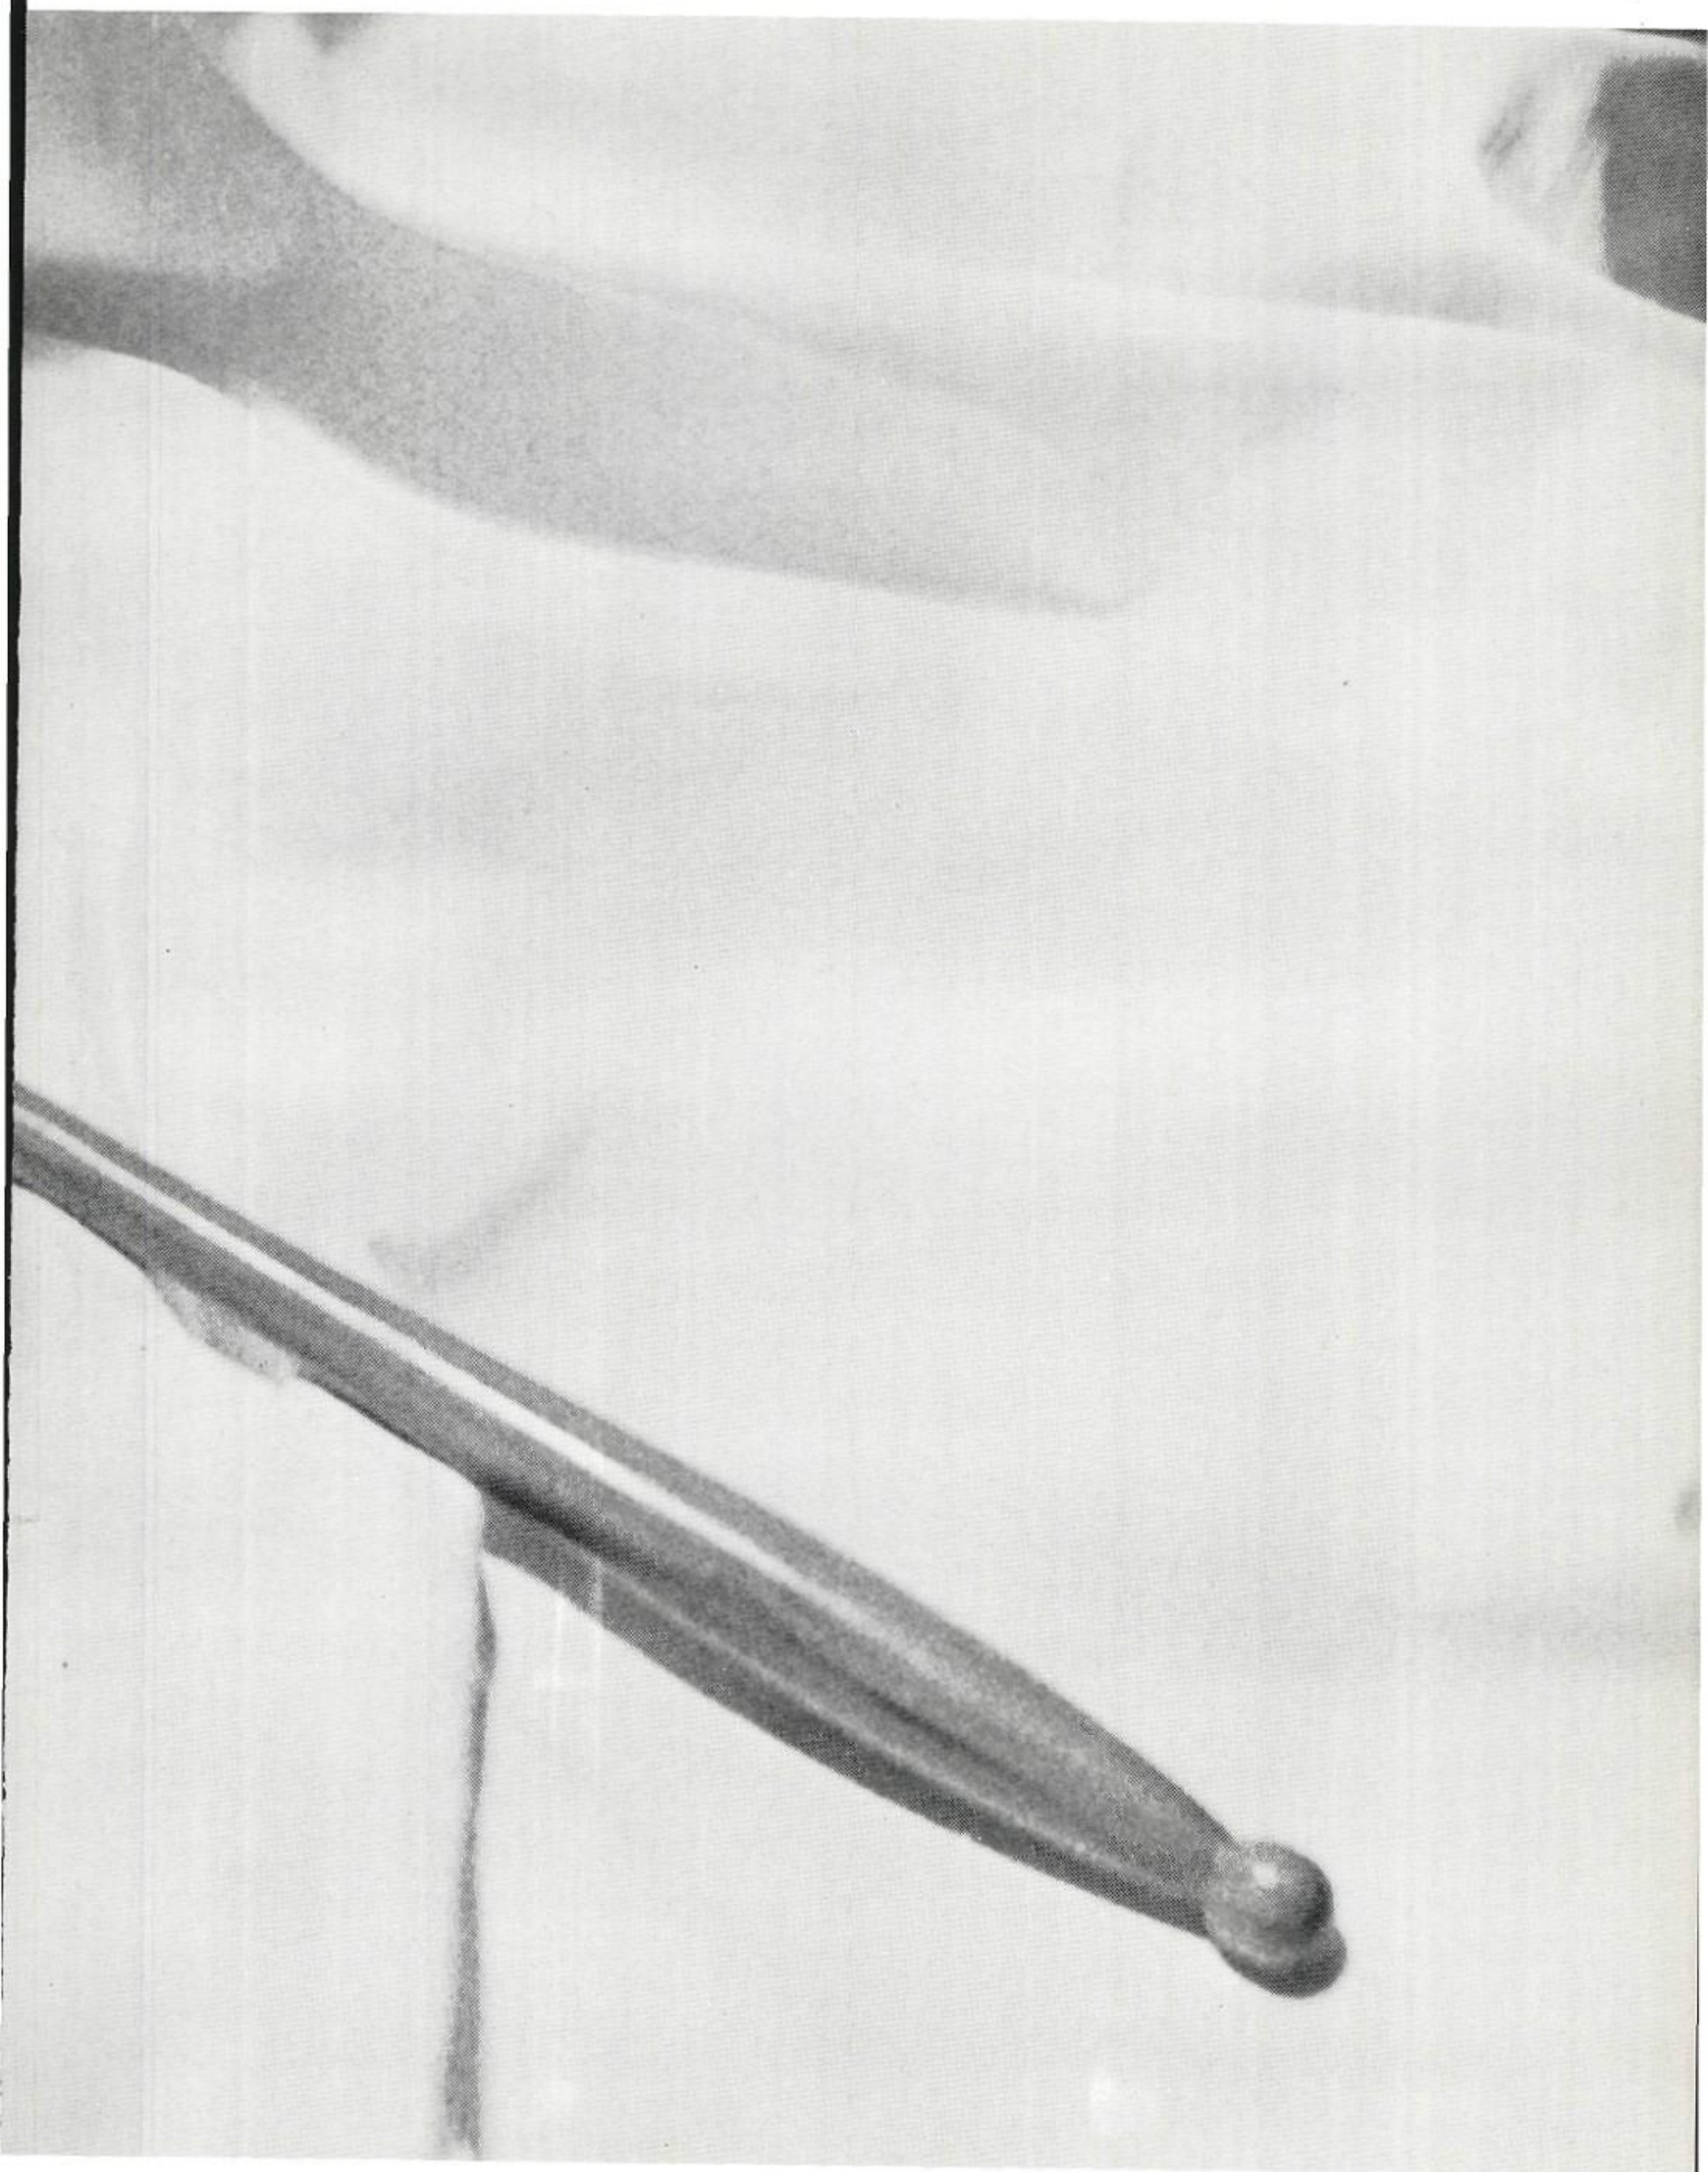
Organizations



Just as our American government is comprised of many smaller bureaus operating for different purposes, our high school has many smaller groups operating as clubs and service organizations. These groups cover many themes and are of service to students and faculty. They stress leadership, responsibility, parliamentary procedure, and initiative.



Student Council Works

OFFICERS: SEATED: Sue Mahan, Corres. Sec.; Susan Jones, Rec. Sec.; Paul Sikes, Pres.; Marilyn Denham, V.-Pres.; Linda Dobbs, Treas. STANDING: Ross Rainwater, Parl.; Linda Coley, Chaplain; Pam McCrory, Hist.

"Include the student in, not exclude him out." Grammar may be poor, but the idea's there. For a council to be effective, each student must be a real part of it, and the council must be of, not above, the student.

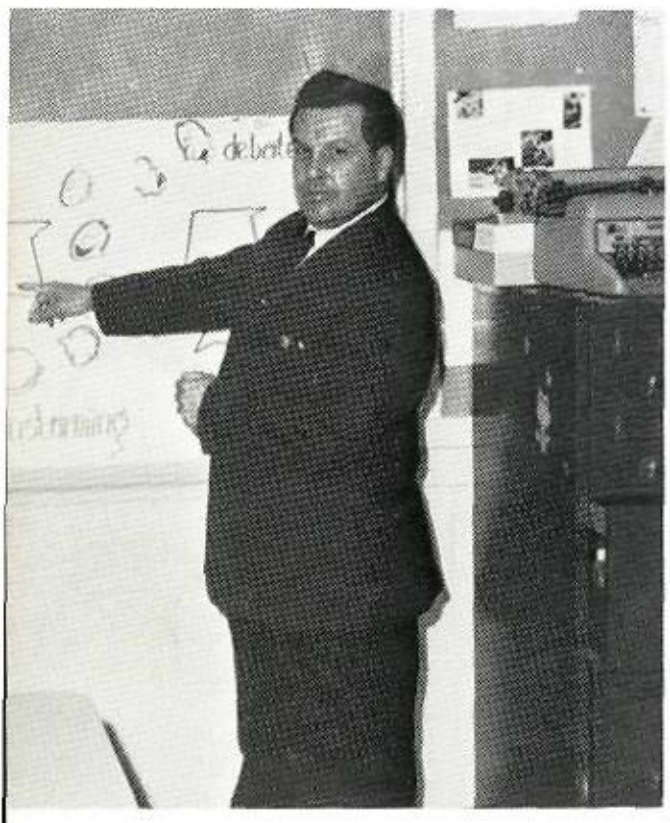
Student Council has worked hard to live up to these ideals and has been instrumental in encouraging better student standards.

Projects for the year have been snack bar, Howdy Week Dance, Beatnik Dance, Bundle Week, Presidents' Banquet, purchase of the organ, and presentation of two $100 scholarships.



Mr. Hufman discusses group dynamics at Leadership Workshop.

Miss Fisher and Mr. Booze, sponsors, review council agenda.

By the decision of this year's board, next year's president will be elected by the Board, rather than by the Student Body.

Youth Board

Dancing is a favorite past-time at the Youth Center.

President Susan Carlock puts the final touches on the tea house, part of the decorations at the Board's spring dance.

Youth Board is sponsored by the Community Chest. Its main purpose is to operate the Youth Center, which is open every Friday night. Dancing, ping pong, and games are the main activities. Board sponsors are Mr. Jack Williams, Mrs. R. G. Jones, Mrs. C. W. Briggs, and Mrs. Mell Coley.

Students apply for membership at the end of each school year. Membership is limited to the number of homerooms, and members are chosen by the outgoing senior members. At the end of the year, evaluation sheets are distributed to the student body for their opinions and criticism of the Board and Center.

Martha Lindley, Connie Haney, and Beverly Maulding decorate for the spring dance. The Board also sponsors a Christmas Dance.

This year for the first time, the Board sponsored an assembly entitled, "Let's Dare to be Square."

1963-64 Youth Board Queen is Sue Vanatta. Miss Vanatta was chosen at the Christmas Dance by the dance band.

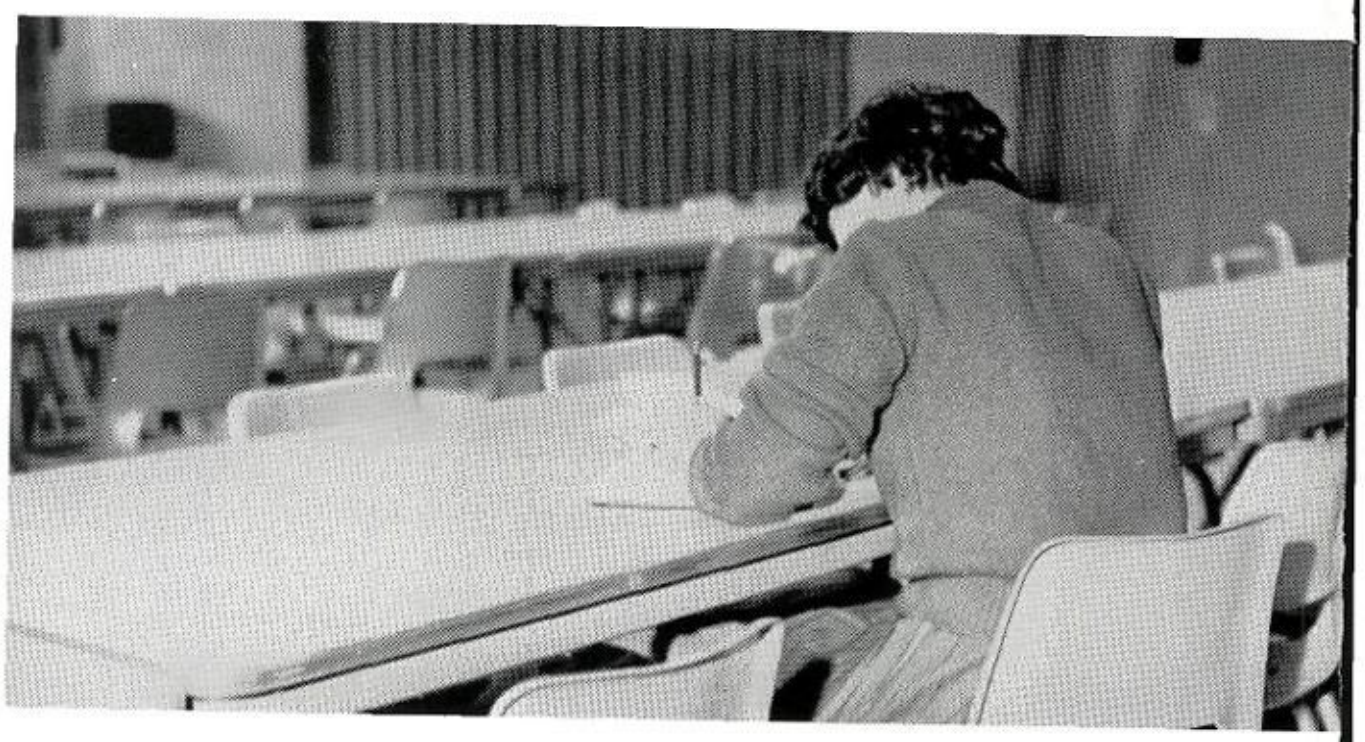
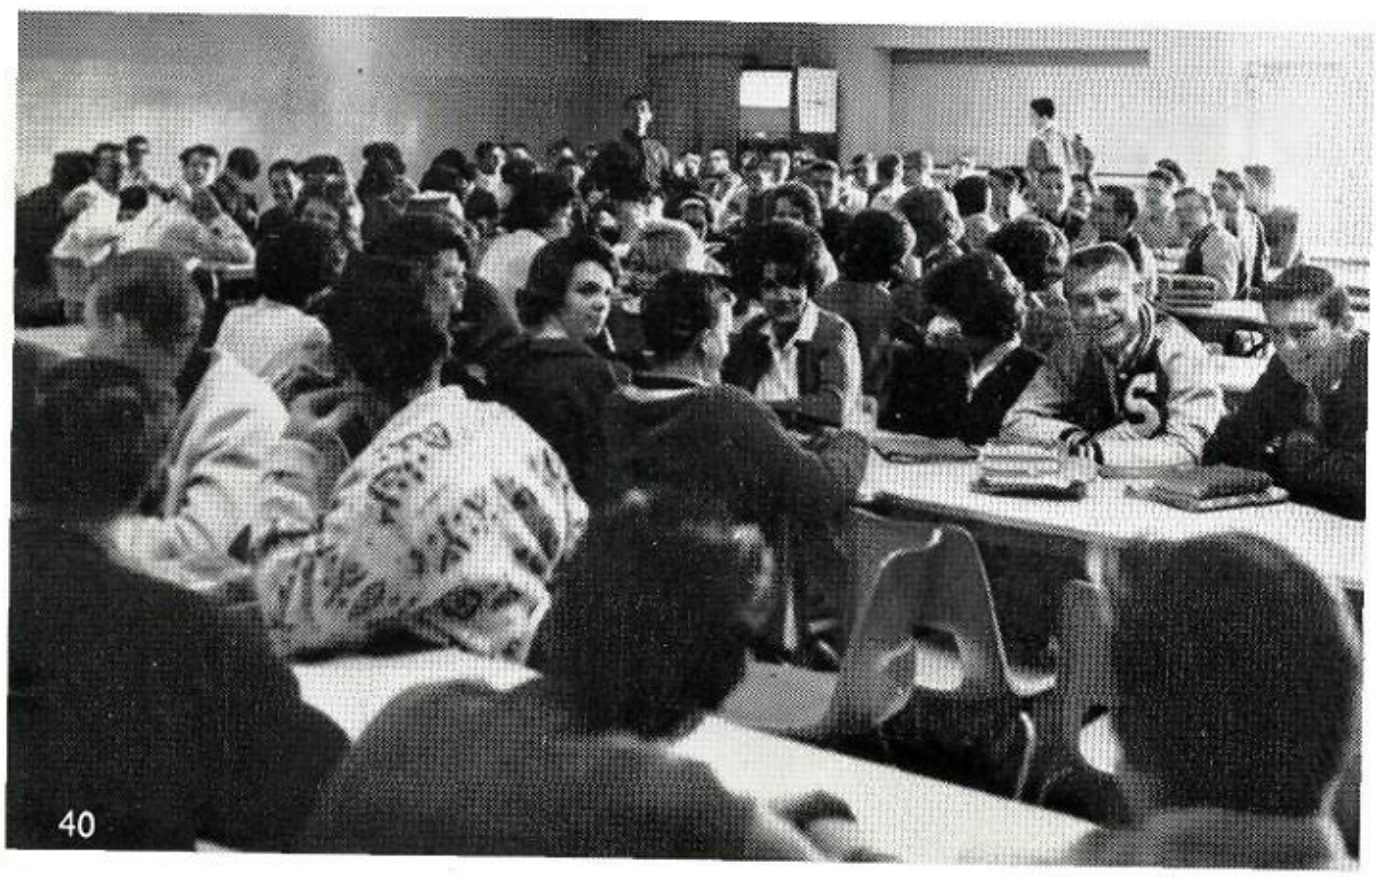
Drivers' Club Promotes School Safety

Officers of the Drivers' Club take a break near the water fountain. They are from left to right: Johnny Troutt, Prosecutor; Mike Pennington, President; Jeanne Faulkner, Treasurer; Myrl Woodard, Secretary; and Clifford Johnson, Vice-President.

Sapulpa High School Drivers' Club, working with the local police and Highway Patrol, encourages safety by both pedestrians and drivers. Students who commit a traffic violation have the prerogative of transferring the case to the Drivers' Club Court. All cases are tried before a twelve-man jury chosen at random from the club's roll. The jury hears the case, deliberates, and then finds the defendent guilty and innocent. If found guilty, a theme ranging from 1,500 to 10,000 words on the subject of safety is assigned.



Students found guilty spend many hours writing their "sentence."



Club members eagerly await jury's verdict.

Trade and Industry Club Provides Vocational Training

Sapulpa High School's curriculum not only provides the college-bound student with advance courses but it also gives very important training to those planning to enter some field of industry. Members participating in this type of program attend regular classes during the morning while in the afternoon they work at various jobs, thus giving them an opportunity to learn a vocation as they work.

ROW 1: Bill Hofstrom, Tommy Raby, Pat Varner, Wanda Tolson, Patricia Steeples, Jack Morris, Ronald Jones.

Medical Arts Club Trains Candy Stripers

Assisting the Sapulpa Blood Bank once a month is one of the more important jobs of the junior and sophomore members of the Medical Arts Club. Members serve refreshments to citizens giving blood and contact potential donors when the blood supply needs replenishing.

Although many of the girls do not plan to go into medicine professionally each member benefits from experience gained by giving companionship to shut-in patients or in a more professional way by assisting the hospital staffs of Bartlett Memorial Hospital and Curry Clinic as nurses aids.

Medical Arts Club officers Jan Holt, Hist.; Pat Bilby, Rec. Sec.; Donna Wadley, Vice.-Pres.; Sue Barringer, Pres.; and Pat Stivers, Treas., are ready to check-in at Bartlett Memorial Hospital.

"We Build."—Build what? Leaders! Through the leadership training provided by Key Club, members are given the initiative needed to be qualified leaders.

The second basic part of Key Clubbing is the training of responsible workers and followers. Every member who is a good follower has a good start toward being a good leader.

Key Club has had many worthwhile projects this year: Completion of the school marquee, supplying sophomores with copies of high school hymn, boys' orientation, sponsoring the "Blunder Basketball" game. Other projects were the fruitcake sale at Christmas, distribution of "You and the Law" pamphlets to underclassmen, and the sale of Kiwanis Pancake Feed tickets.

Many services are rendered during the year by the library club. All of the club members serve as librarians in the school library for at least one hour a day. The duties of the members include making new books ready for use in the library; keeping all books in neat, easy-to-find order; and giving helpful assistance to Mrs. Lindley, their sponsor. The highlight of the club year is the annual library party.

Officers are Diana VanLandingham, Sec.; Bunny Naifeh, V.-Pres.; Jeanne Faulkner, Pres.; Jane McCracken, Treas.

Mrs. Lindley, librarian, aids student in finding book.

Death scene from skit, "Egad, What a Cad!"

Blazers is a girls organization teaching better citizenship and showing acceptance of responsibility. It is a service club of sixty-five members.

Blazers sponsored Powder Puff Football game and Autumn Ball to raise money for its treasury. Along with the Key Club they sponsored the Heart Hop as a money-making project for the Heart Fund. They also sponsored an assembly with a skit entitled "Egad, What a Cad!"

Audio Visual Aids Teachers

Training new members in proper use of slide and film projectors, giving operator tests and repairing minor difficulties in machinery are a few activities conducted by busy members.

Licensed operators are always available to help teachers by operating visual aids.

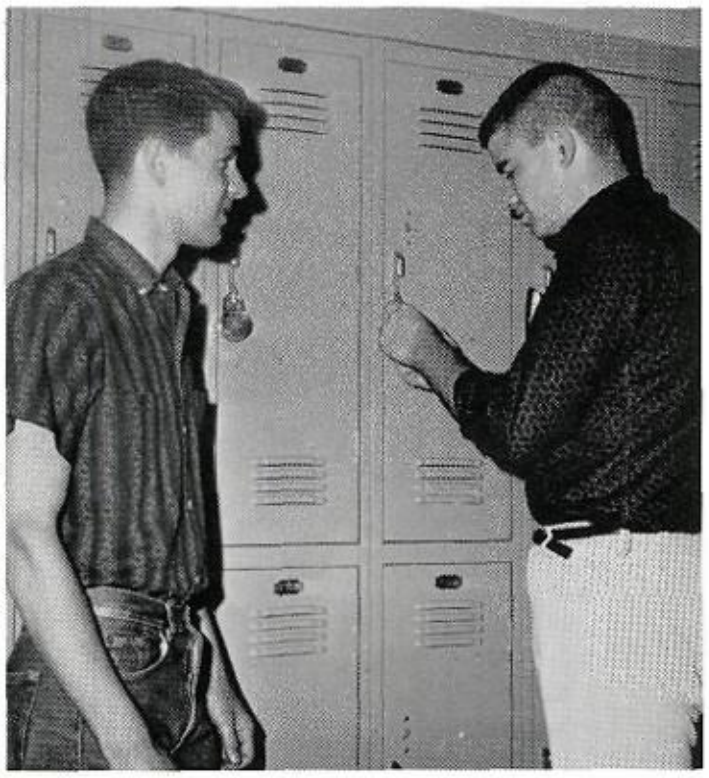
Camera Club Is "Snap" Happy

Echoing down the halls of Sapulpa High School are the strange sounds of the Camera Club. The myriad of noises range from low-pitched buzzes to "Smile please, it's for the yearbook." One main objective of the Camera Club is providing the yearbook with the right picture at the right time. Members are also trained in the use of various types of cameras, special camera techniques, and the processing of film. The efforts of the Camera Club make the difficult task of composing a yearbook an easier one.



President Mike Dunbar and Vice-President Maurice Henry stop by their lockers before going to class.

Homemaking Prepares Girls for Future

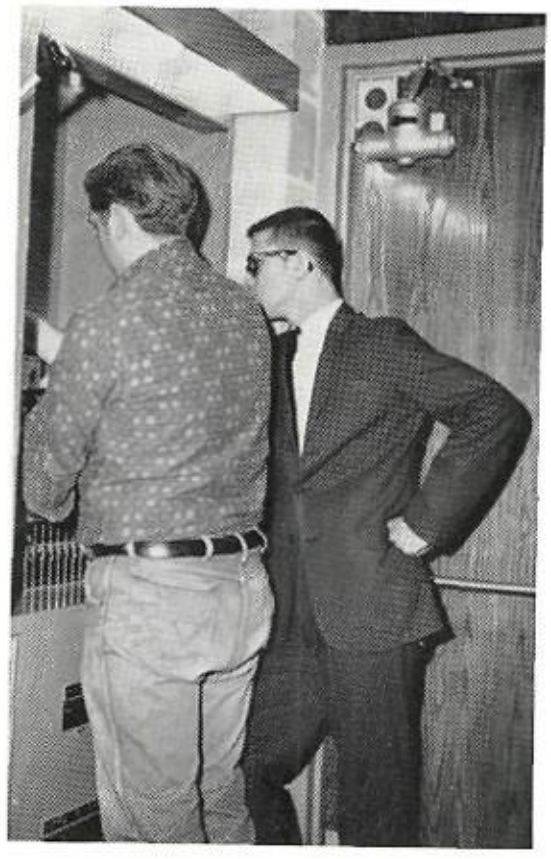
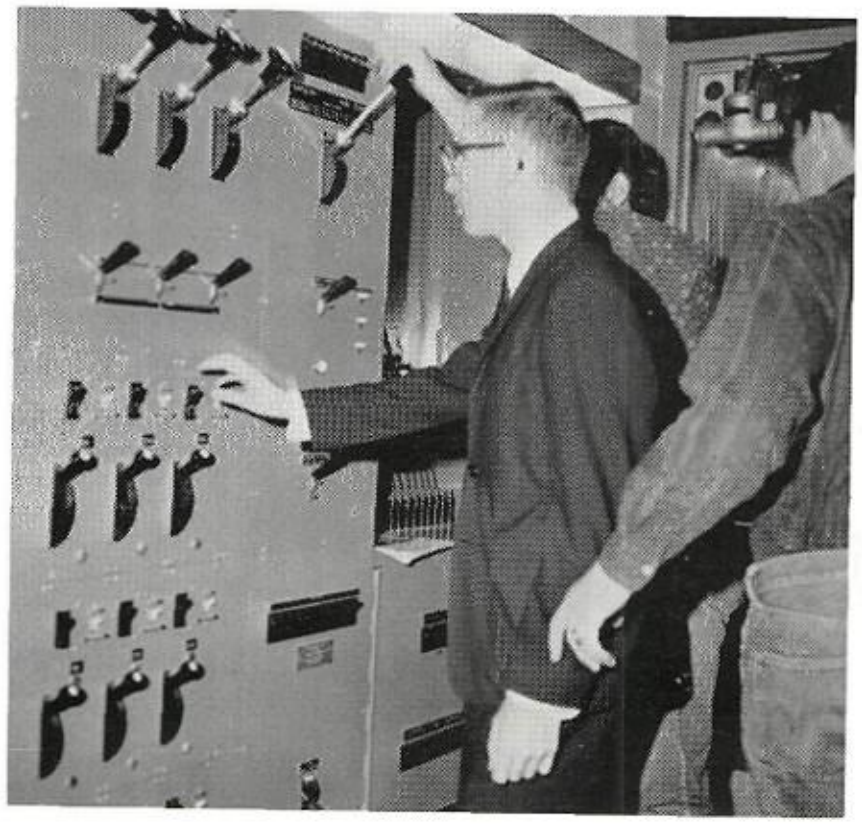
Well-Trained Crews Vital to Assemblies



Stage Manager Glen Buckner looks over lighting facilities with Jack Cloud.

Phillip McCully, Robert Suggs, and Gordon Henley clear stage after the Medical Arts Assembly.

Stage-Craft members may be seen in action before, during or after assemblies. This club is one of the most active service clubs. Moving into the new Auditorium has given this year's crew added enthusiasm for their work.



David Cupps studies light control panel.

Intra-School Council Coordinates Activities

Newest organization in school is the Intra-School Council. It is made up of the presidents and vice-presidents of all organizations at SHS. Its purpose is to coordinate activities between organizations and to avoid duplication of projects. Groups are given an opportunity to express their ideas to other groups and ask help for their projects.

Meeting at least once a six weeks, the council worked for the purchase of the American flags and for materials and aids for the auditorium.

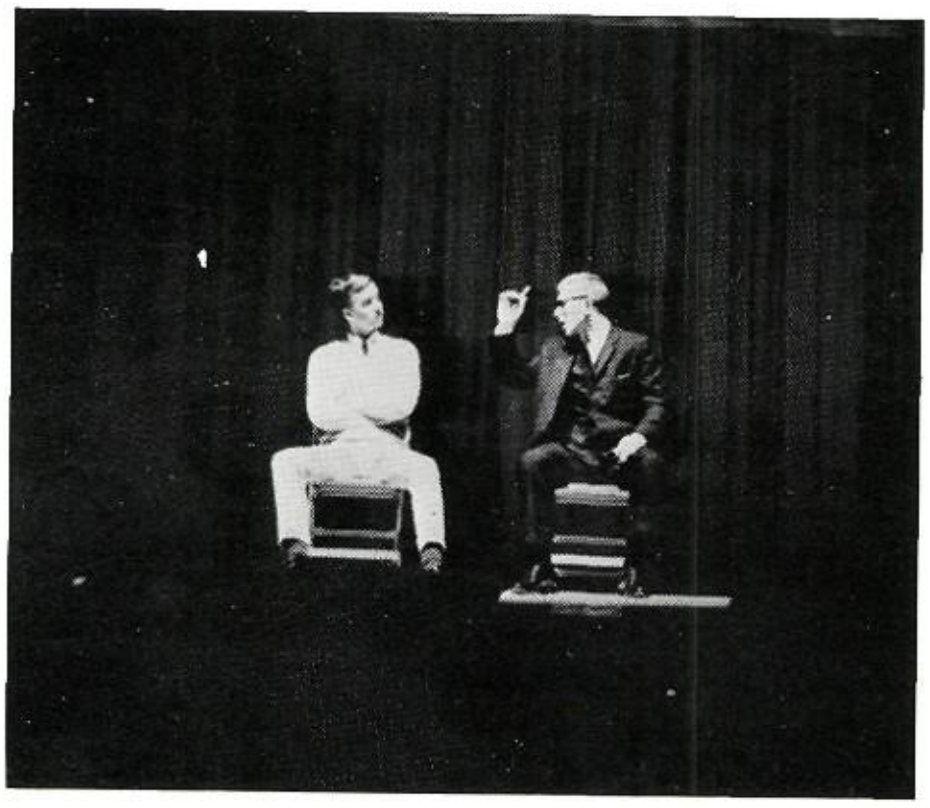
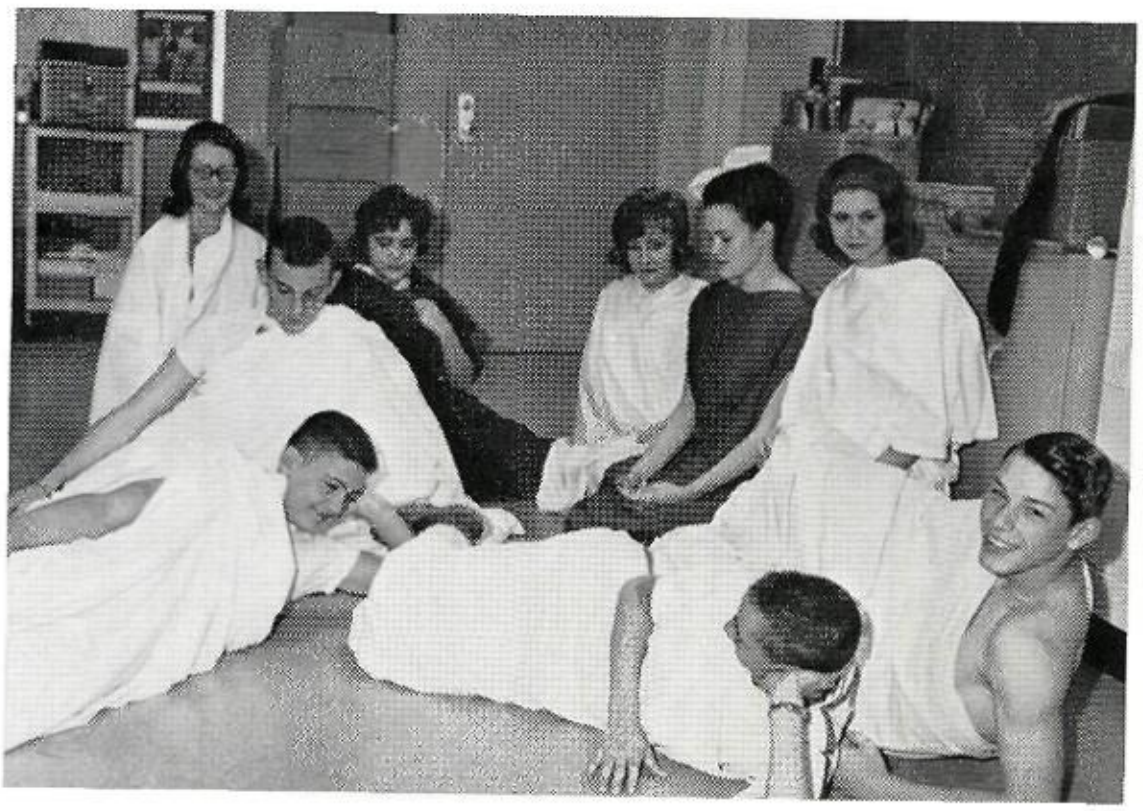
Members participate in an open discussion during one of its meetings.

Larry Page, Terry Wilson, and Terry Miller portray Roman soldiers in Eastern Assembly.



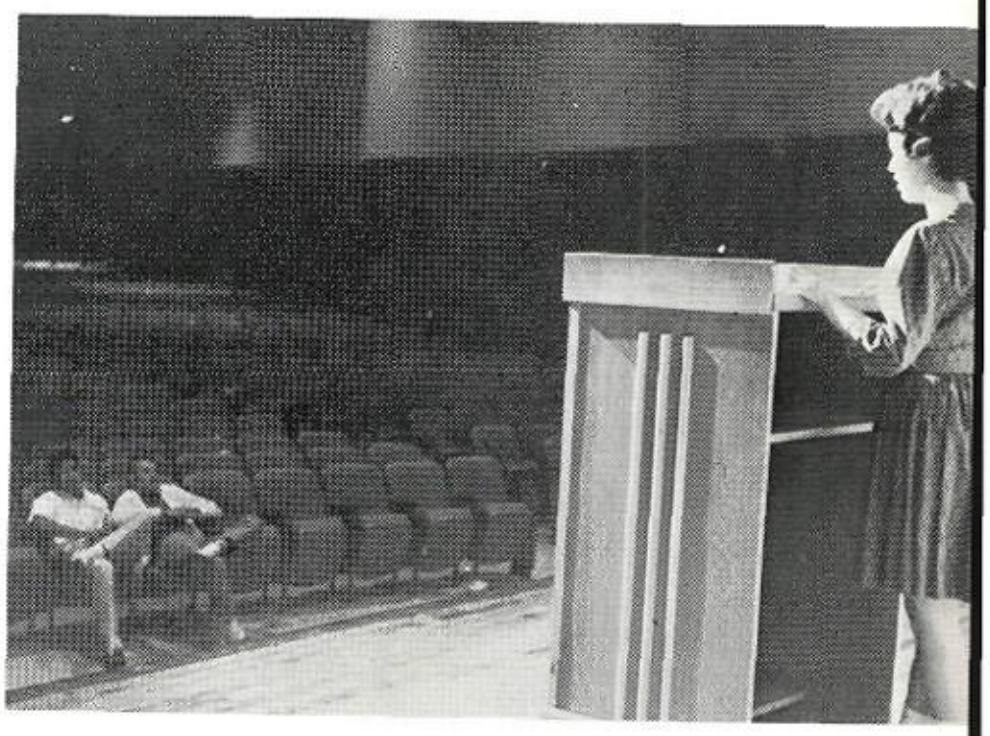
Dan Smeltzer lectures Terry Smith about "machine" politics.

"Old friends" get together with Diana Lee.



Latin Clubbers prepare for their Roman Banquet.

Student Council members count ballots in crucial elections.



Marilyn Denham speaks to a select group.

Classes

A necessity for strong democracy is citizens who are prepared to accept the responsibilities of that form of government. That preparation is most easily obtained in the American school system where democratic fundamentals, ideals, and goals go hand-in-hand with scholastic achievement.

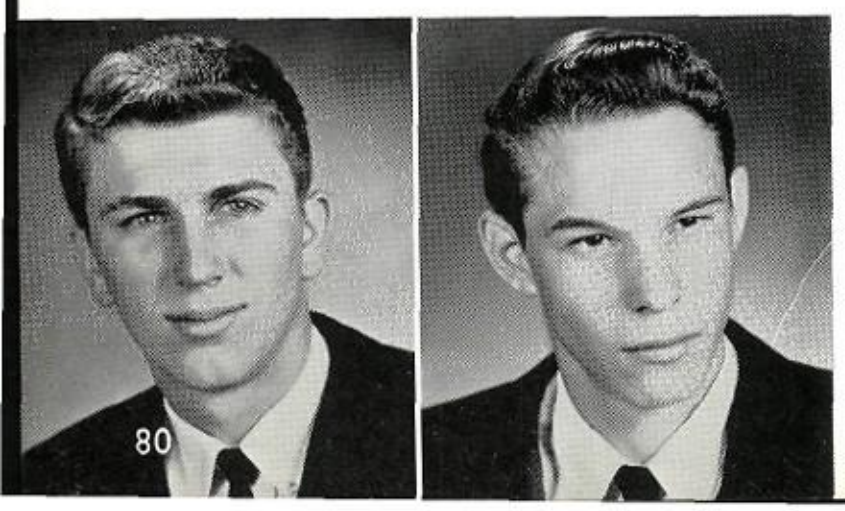
The highlight of the last of school activities was the Senior Banquet and Junior-Senior Prom.

Seniors

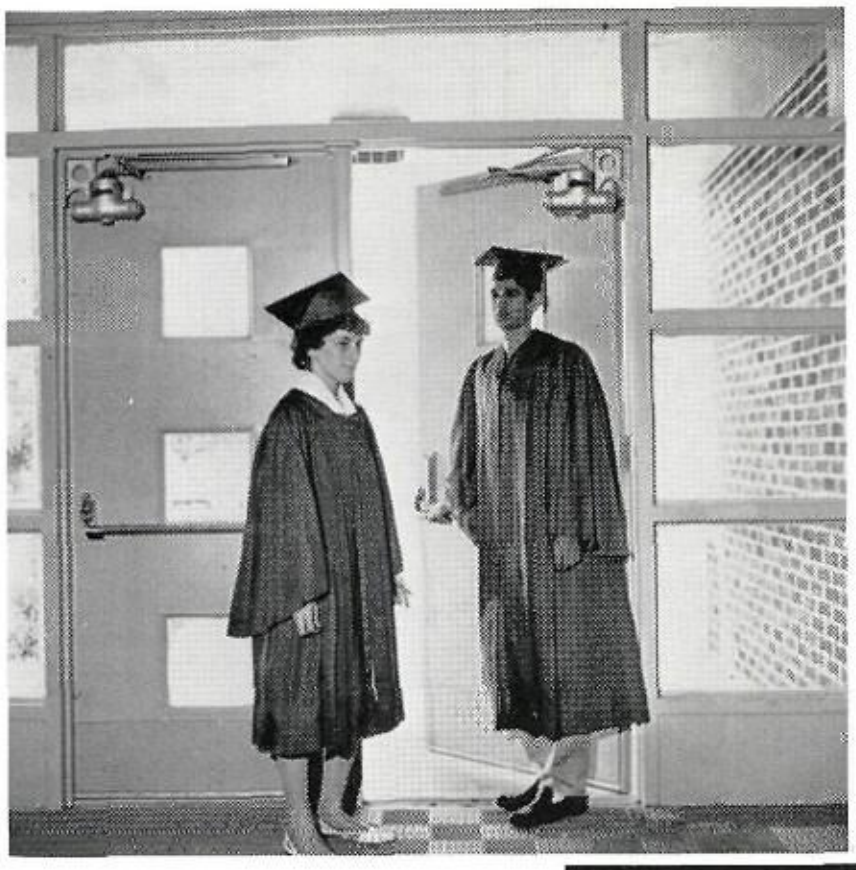
Slow dancing was the favorite of these Seniors.

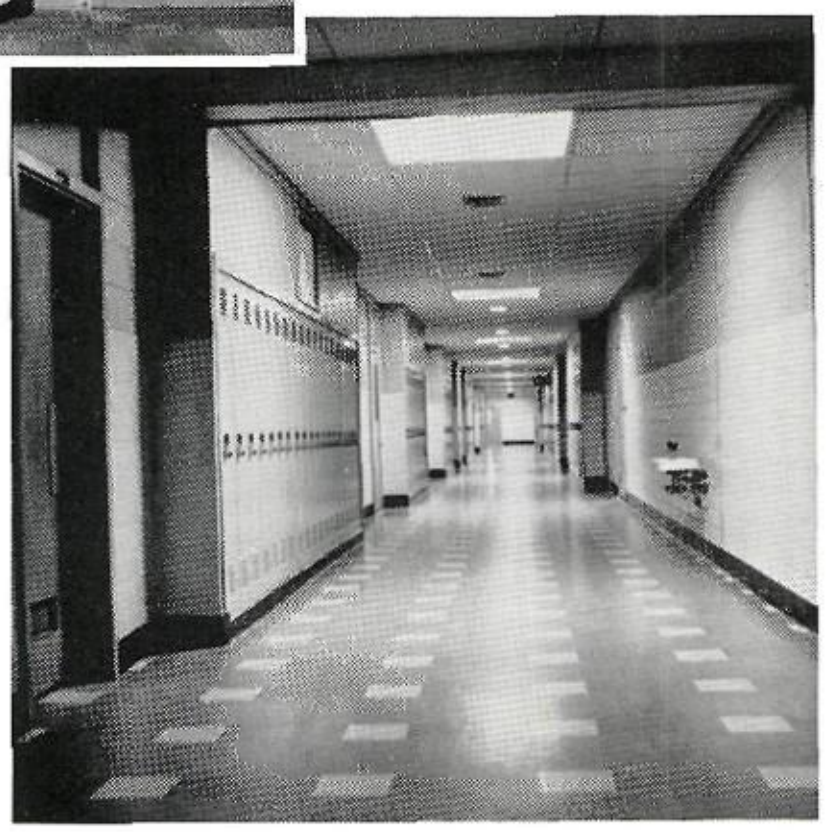
Carolyn Conley presented a beautiful rendition of "Moon River" at the Banquet.

The fountain on the patio was a spot of interes to Charles DeLong, Lisbeth Briggs, Linda Dobbs and L. W. Gardner.



JIM WINGET—Baseball, FTA, Drivers' Club.
LEO WOLFE—Baseball, Audio-Visual Club.





Remember

Having finally arrived at that day when they leave through these doors for the last time, Seniors, Mary Allen and Bobby Pullen, look back feeling a little sad. These halls at SHS, now deserted, won't be for long, but will long echo with the voices and footsteps of the Seniors of 1964!

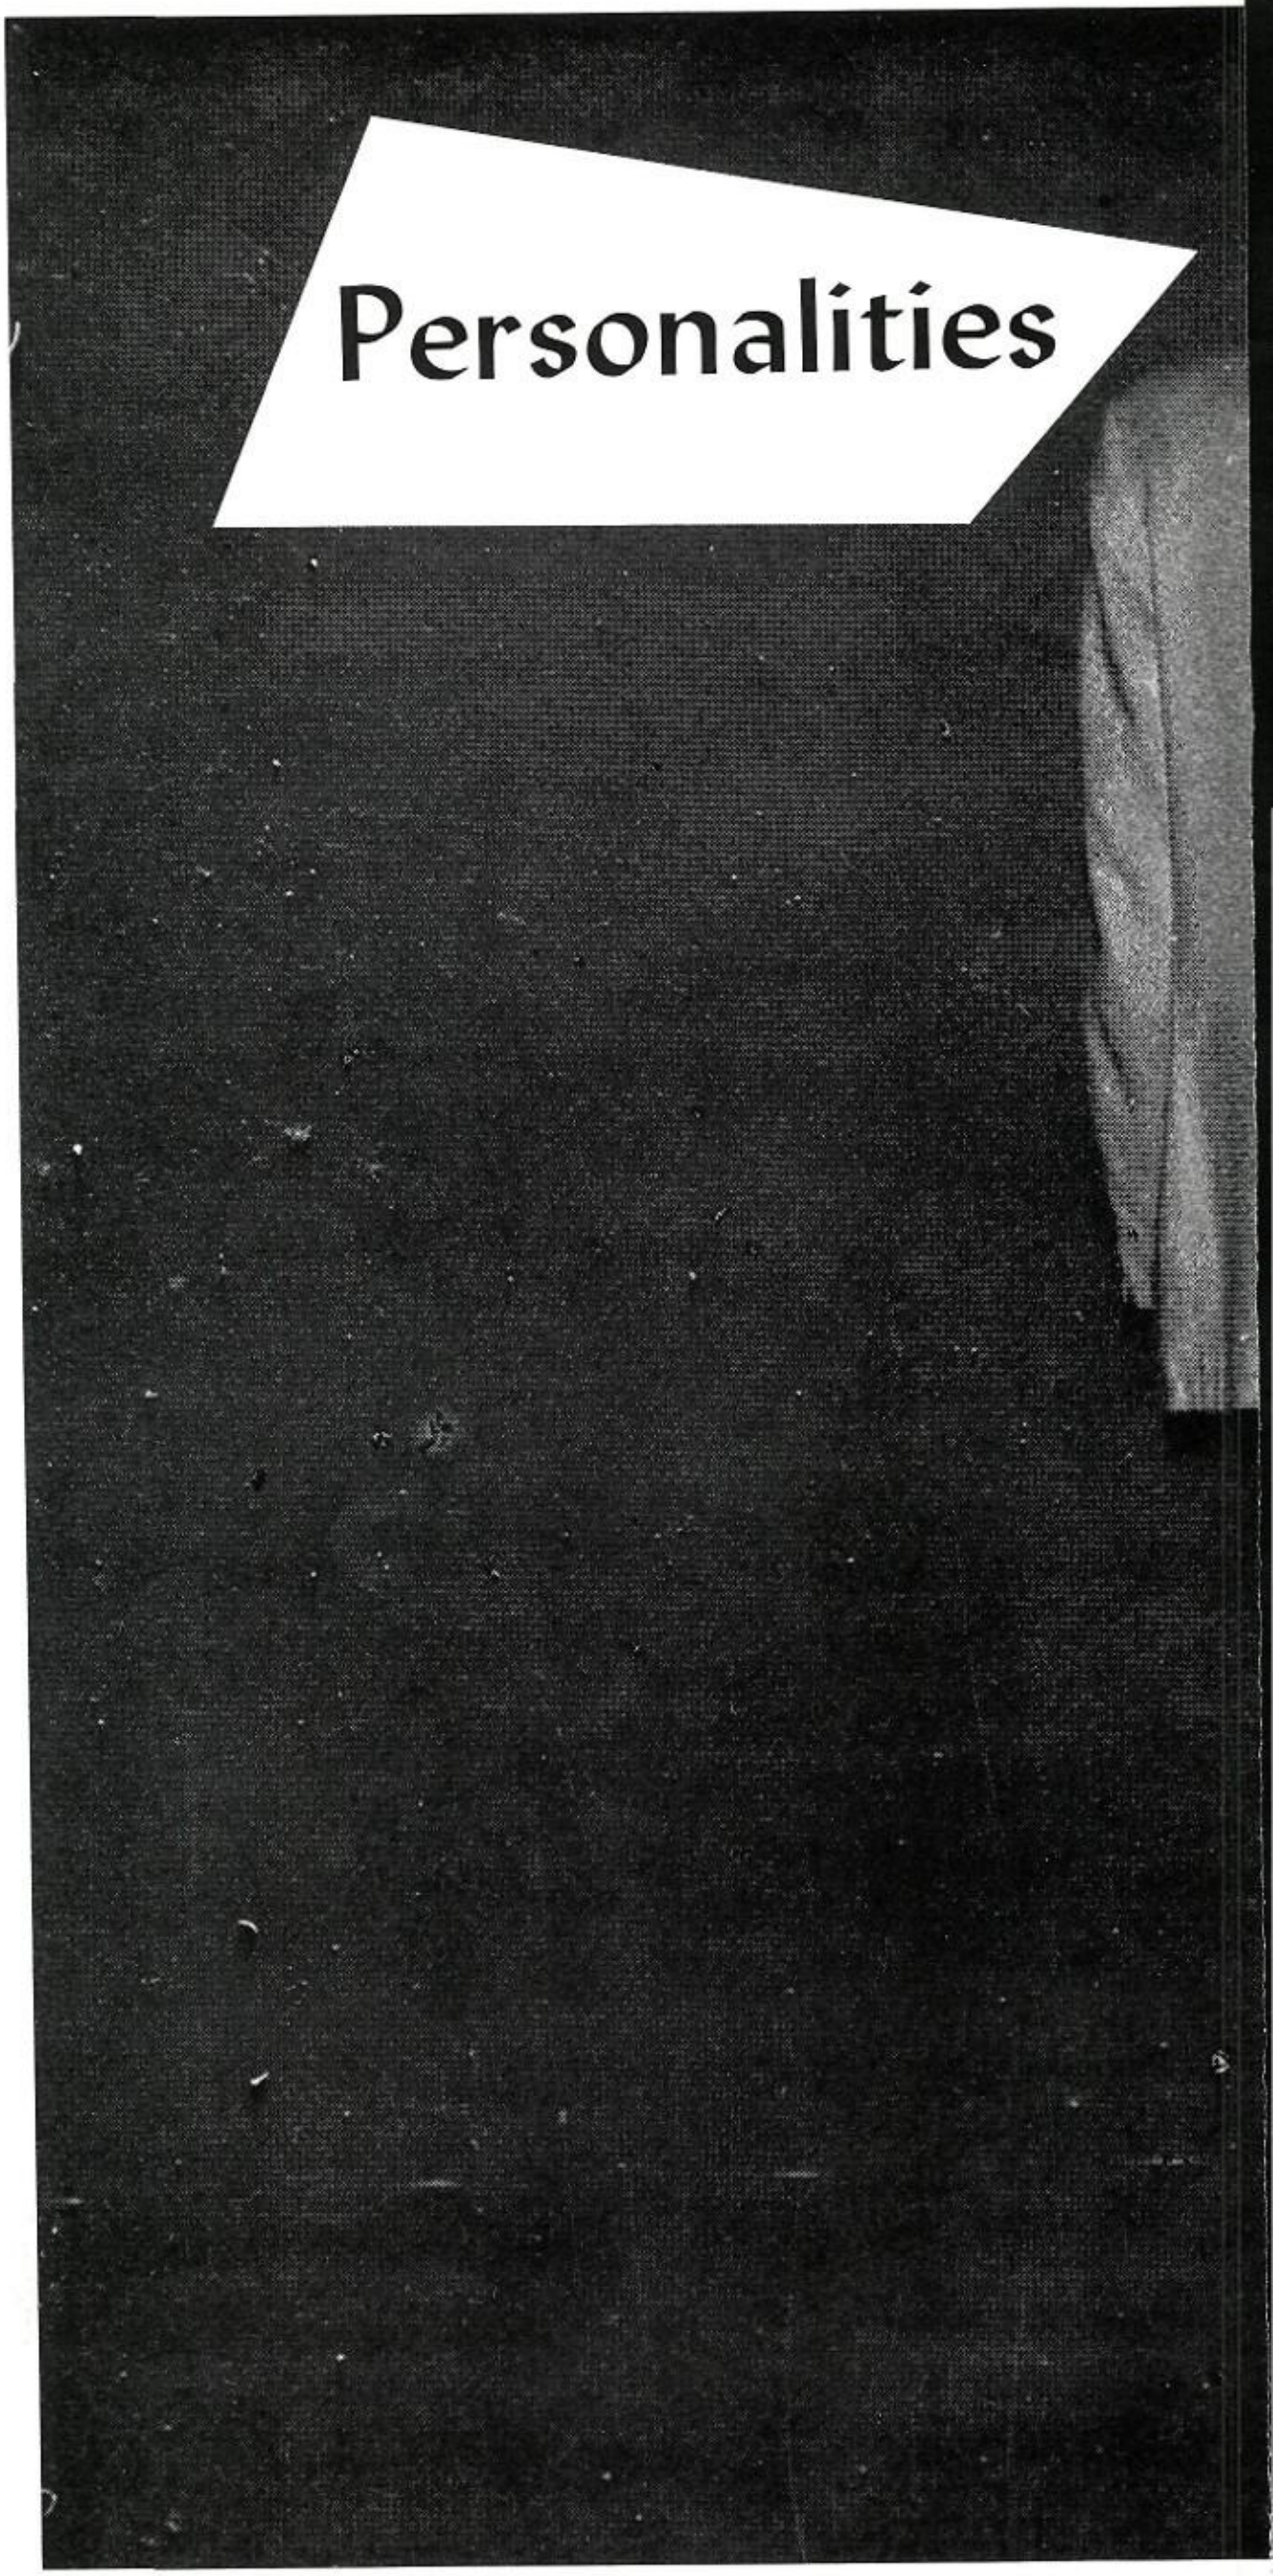
Personalities



Royalties and personalities are parallel to the election system in our American way of life. Each queen or sweetheart is voted on by a large majority or a small group of club members. Personalities show beauty and talent and add grace and charm to our school.

MR. and MISS CONGENIALITY are chosen during Howdy Week, which is the first week of school.

This year they won their titles by signing the most nametags worn by all students during the week. Signatures were counted by Student Council members, with the winners announced at the Howdy Dance.

Both Marilyn and Tommy displayed friendliness and personality during the week and the entire school year.

Each queen is selected in a different way. HOMECOMING QUEEN is voted on by the entire student body. MIDWINTER SPORT'S QUEEN is chosen by the Lettermen's Club. JUNIOR MISS earns her title by selling the most tickets to the Junior Play. BAND QUEEN is chosen by the members of the band. MISS MERRY CHRISTMAS is choir queen. She gains her title from earning the most money during a two week money making project. YEARBOOK KING and QUEEN are the highest money makers from ticket sales to the Yearbook Play.

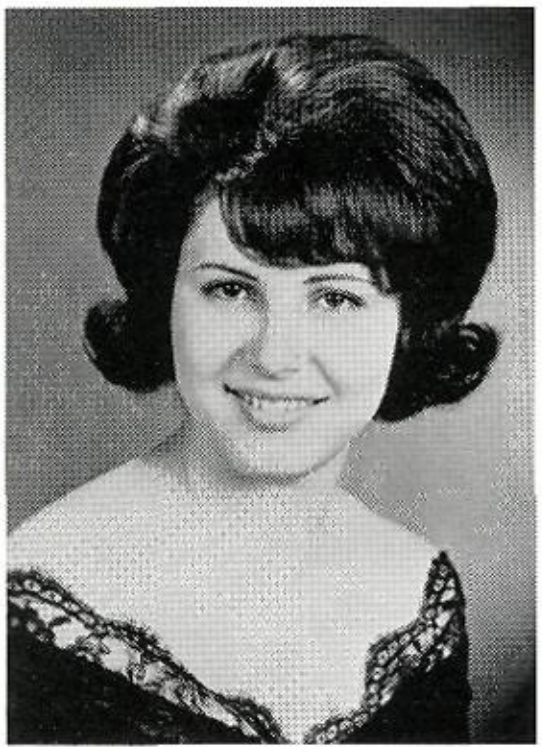
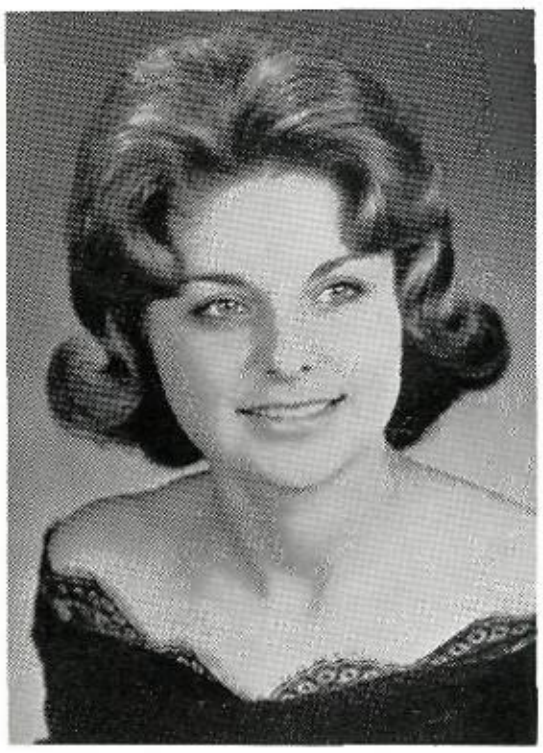
Club Sweethearts Are Added to Royalty

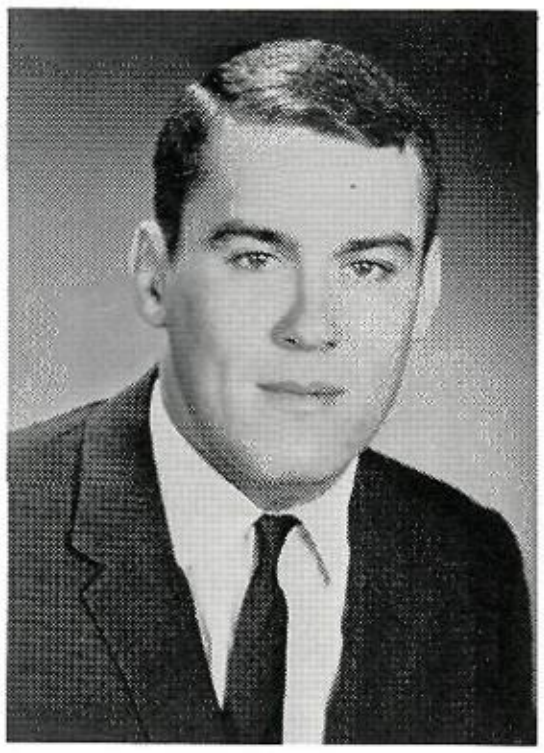


Myrl Woodard was chosen KEY CLUB SWEETHEART in September. She was given a charm bracelet with a Key Club International charm during the Key Club assembly.

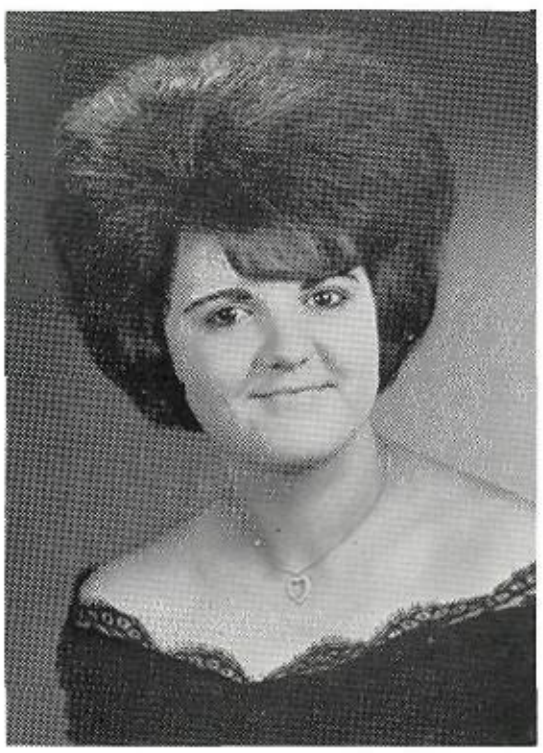
Sue Vanatta was chosen YOUTH BOARD QUEEN during the Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Youth Board. She was chosen by the band and crowned by her escort.



Connie Davis was chosen sweetheart of the FUTURE FARMERS of AMERICA during the month of January.



Shawney West was named BLAZER'S FLAME by the members of the club during November. He was crowned at the Blazer's Dance by club vice-president Lisbeth Briggs.



Wanda Tolson was chosen sweetheart of the TRADE and INDUSTRY club.

HOMECOMING QUEEN candidates are nominated by each senior homeroom. MIDWINTER SPORT'S QUEEN and attendants are chosen by the Lettermen's Club. JUNIOR MISS candidates are chosen by each junior homeroom.

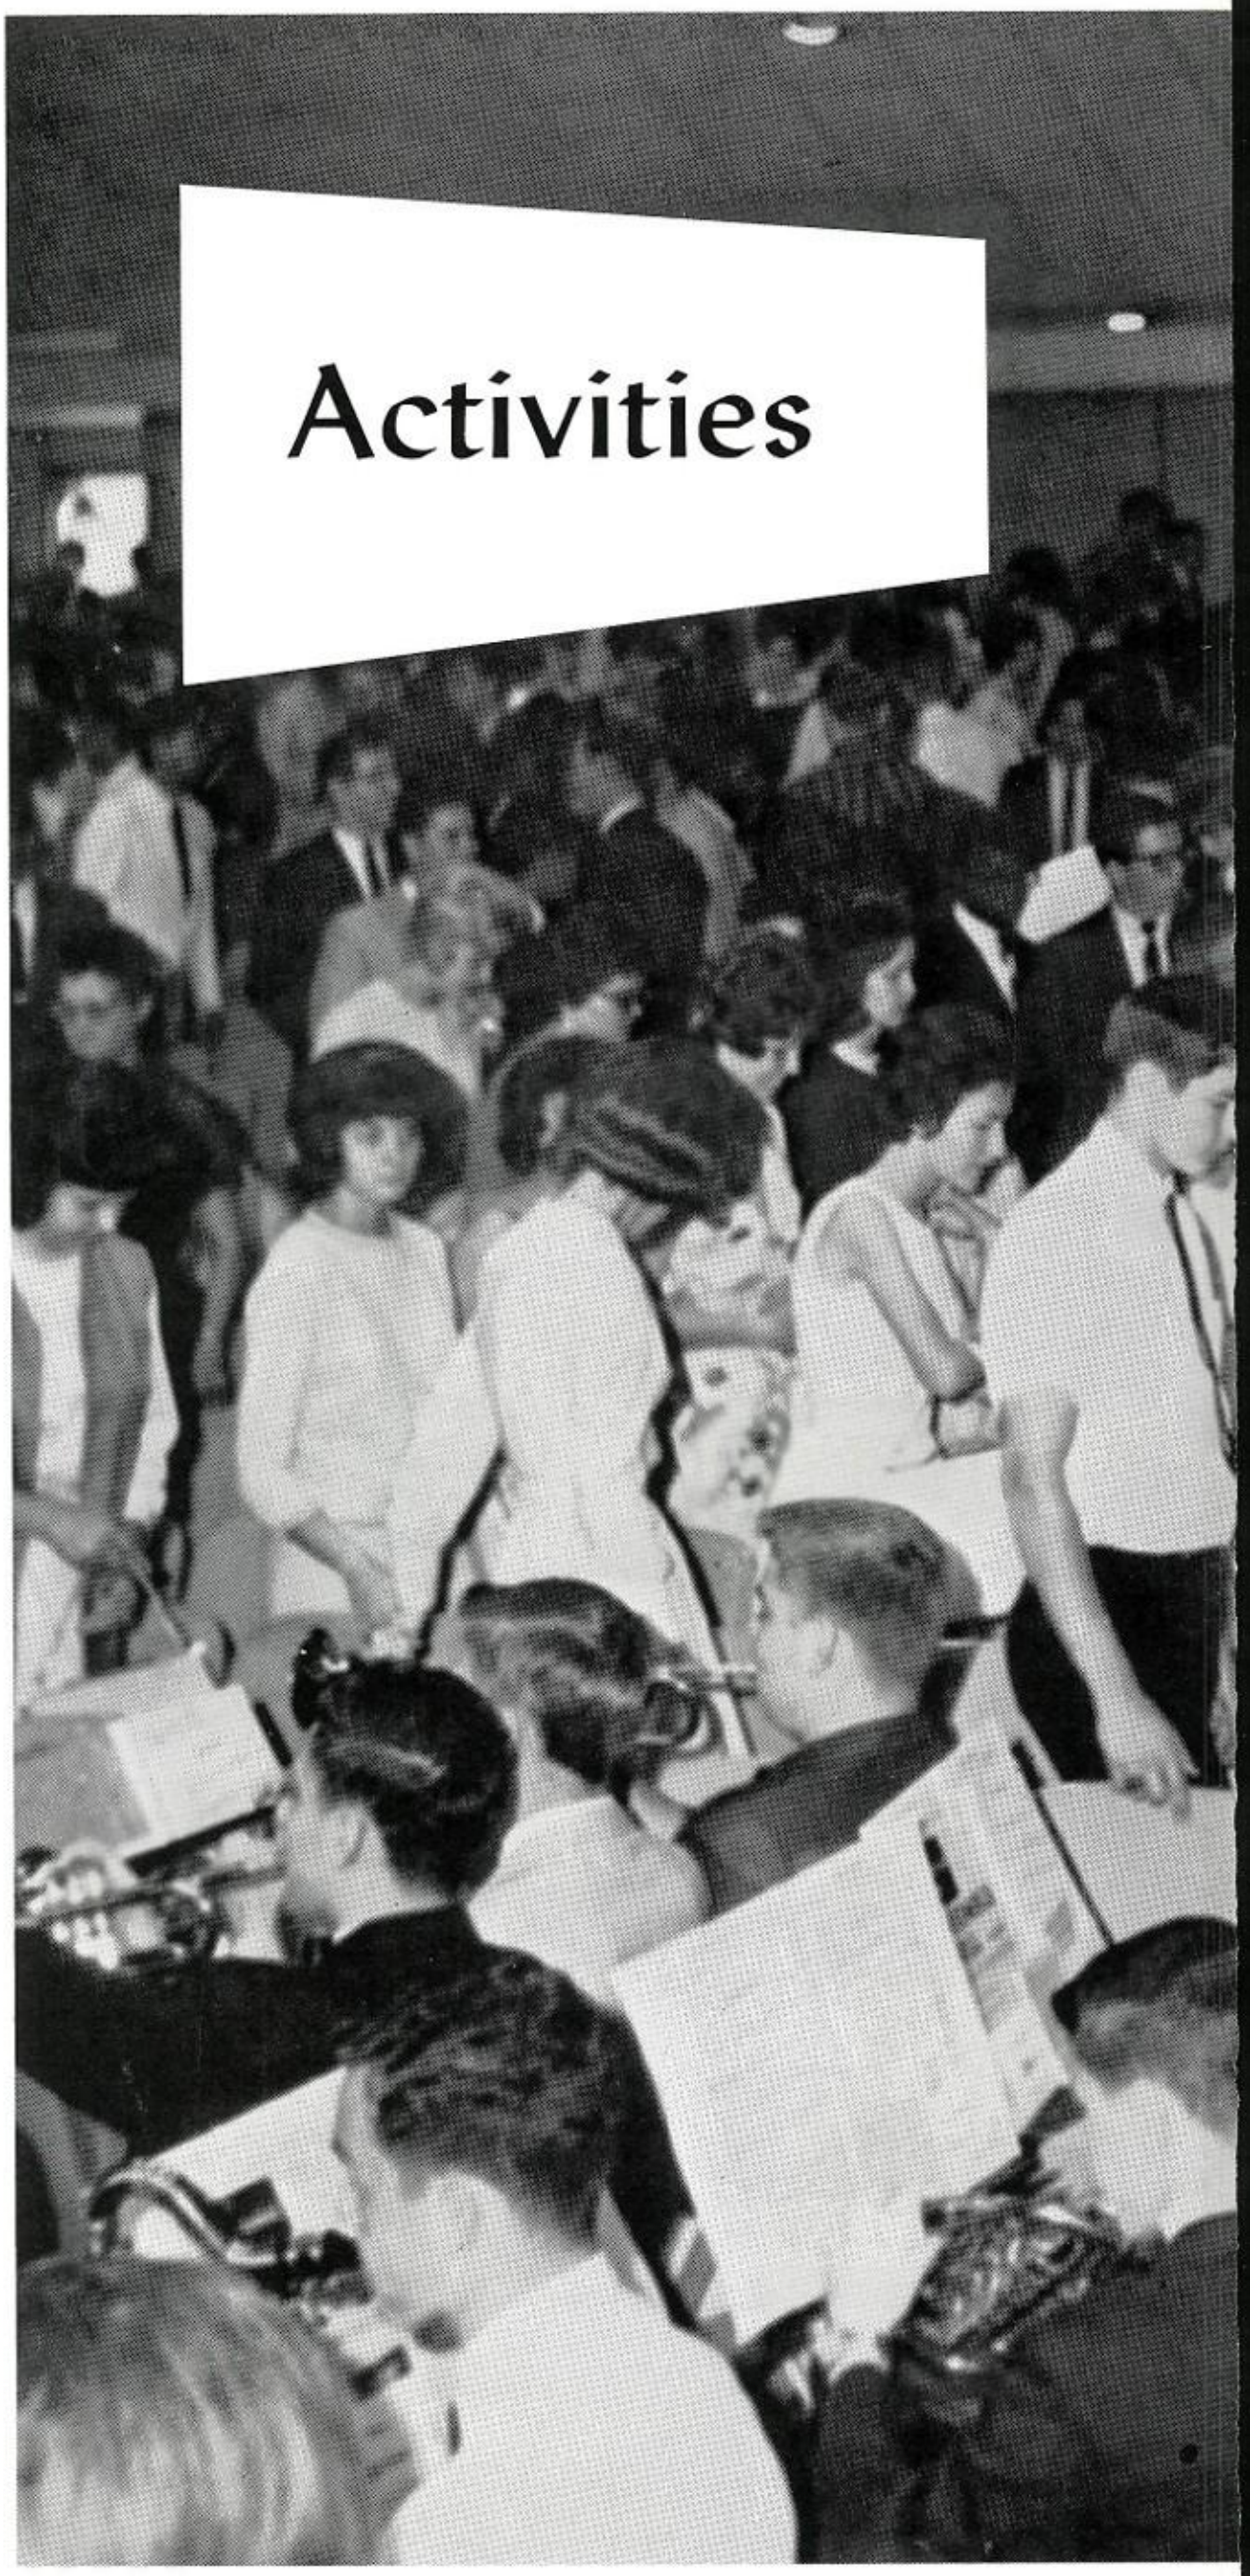
Activities



One of the most important parts of any democratic state is the optional activity that those who want to develop their leadership participate in. Many hours of hard work go into the preparation of music, plays, programs, and numerous functions. One must be able to go the "extra mile" to completely round out his education. These extracurricular activities help those taking part to express themselves through different media. Thus helping to better prepare them to serve in a democratic society.

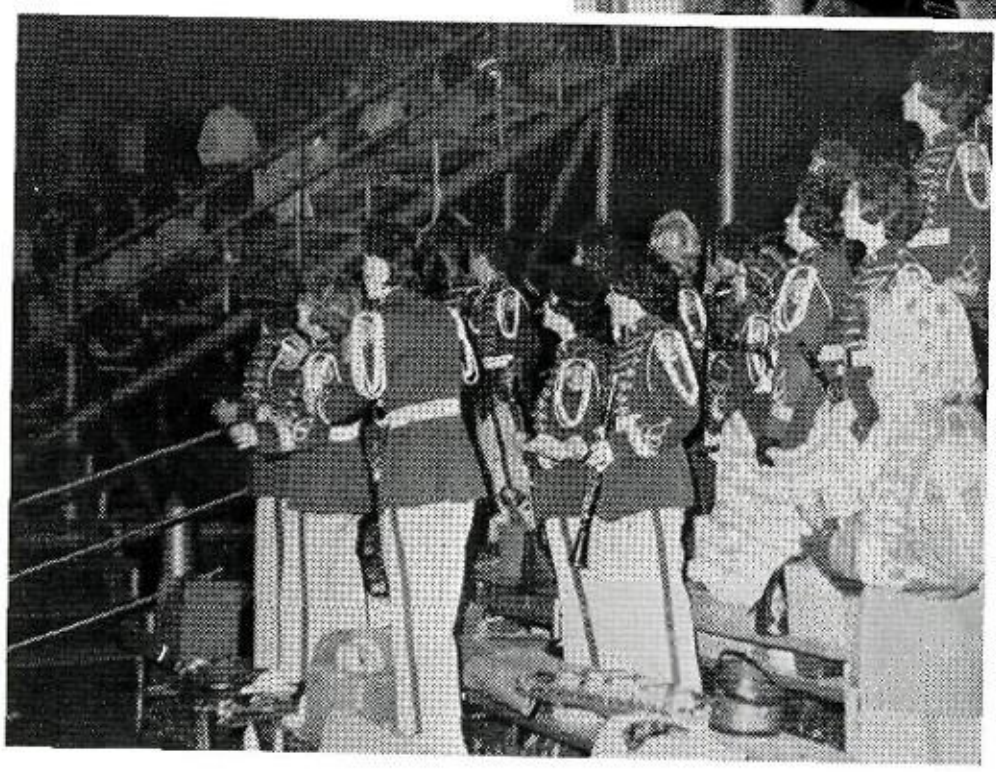
Band travels out of town to support the Chieftain team.

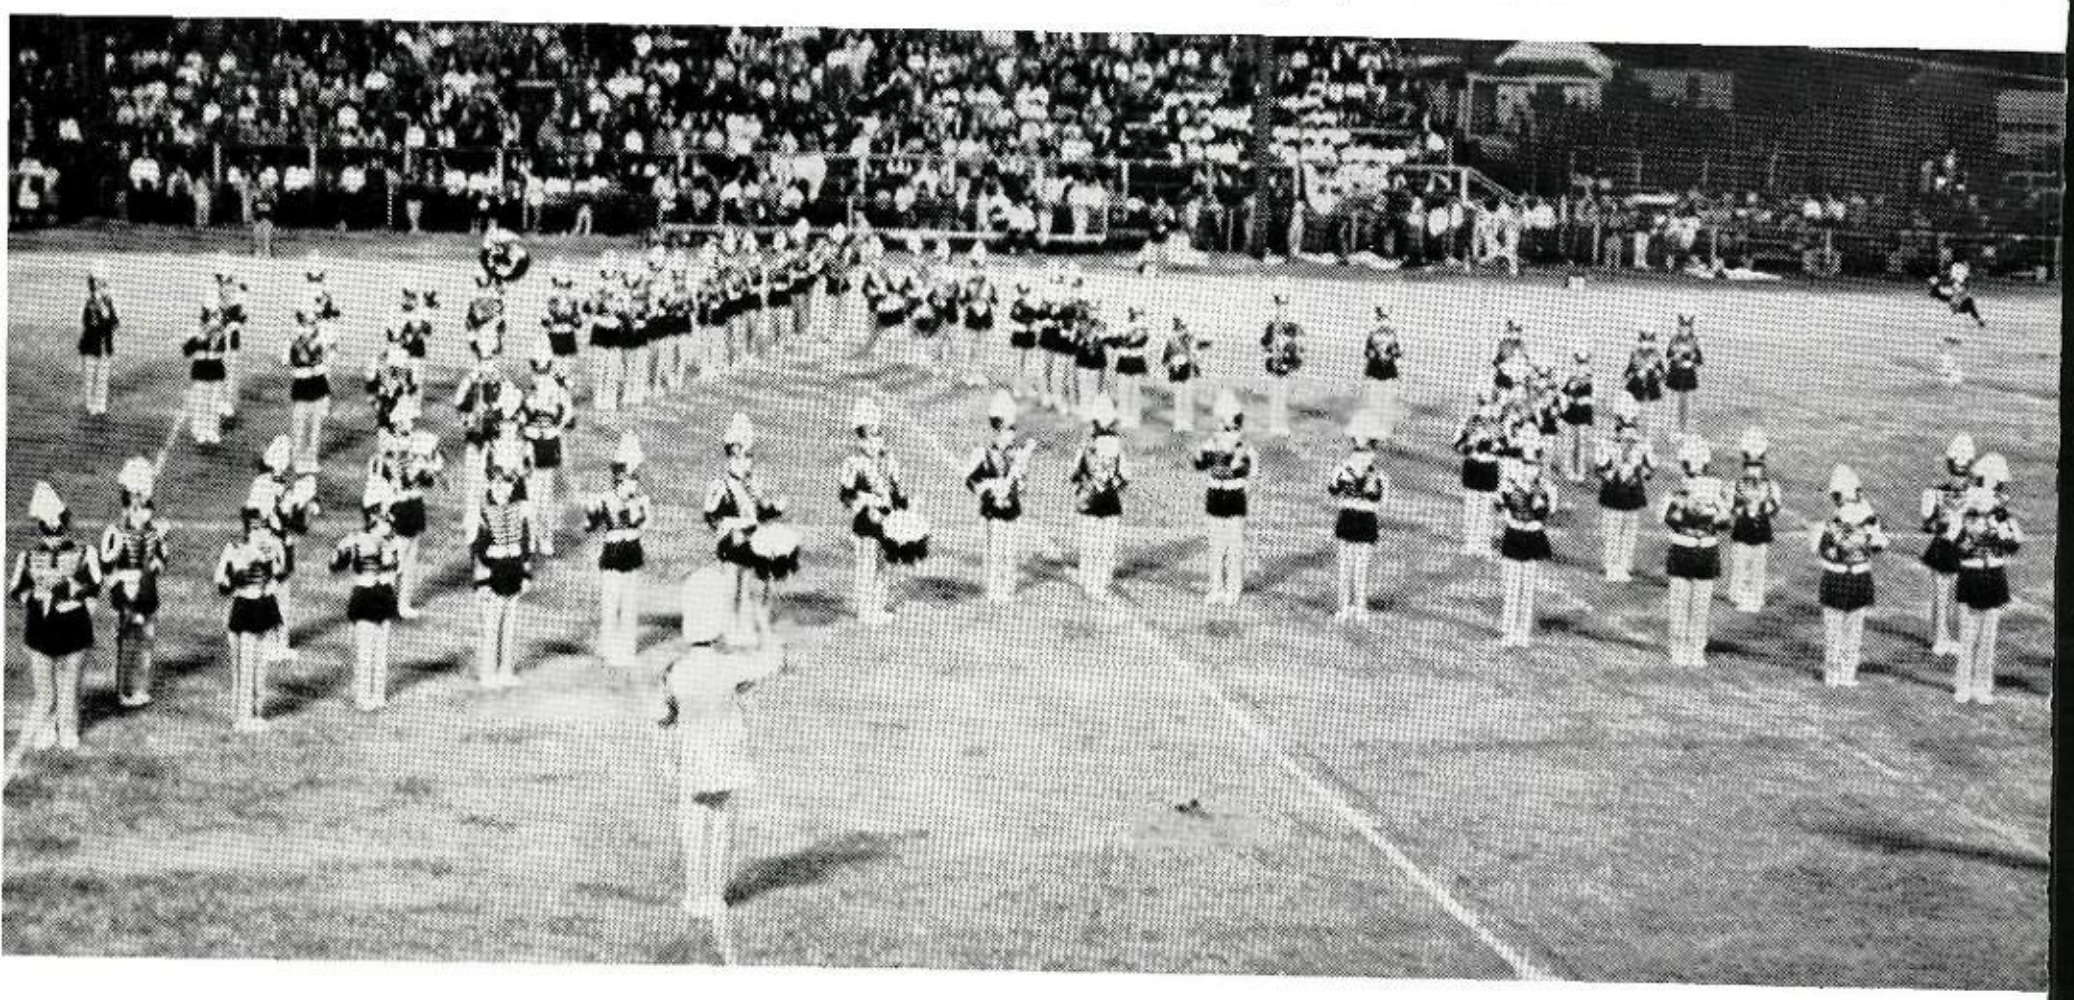


Chieftains are cheered on to victory by the always enthusiastic band.

Marching season is the most active part of the band members' year. Many hours of early morning practice lead to outstanding performances at all home football games. The band also often travels out of town to support the Chieftain team.

In October, the band attended marching contest at Pryor where it received a superior rating on its contest routine and second place for Class A in parade marching.

A star is formed by the band for the crowning of Band Queen, Linda Reneau.



Mr. Brite pauses to explain a passage to the band.

Band presents its Mid-Winter Concert.

Flute trio performs its contest number for the Mid-Winter Concert. Members are Connie Mose, Grace Wiley, and Pam McCrory.

Concert season is an important part of every year. The Band often plays for assemblies, and the climax of the season is the annual Mid-Winter Concert. The music performed includes the Band's contest pieces on which it received a superior rating at state contest at OU in April. This is the first time in more than ten years that the Band has received a superior rating at State Contest two years in a row.

Linda Reneau, first oboe, and Martha Lindley, first bass clarinet, were chosen as members of the All-State Band.

Sports

Athletics, more than any other phase of the school curriculum, has the responsibility of training its participants in good sportsmanship and judgement. All who take part, in addition to becoming physically fit, learn how to be gentlemen, both on and off the playing field. Competition, a fundamental of any democratic society, helps to correlate student activities and is a primary factor in molding the students into one unit.

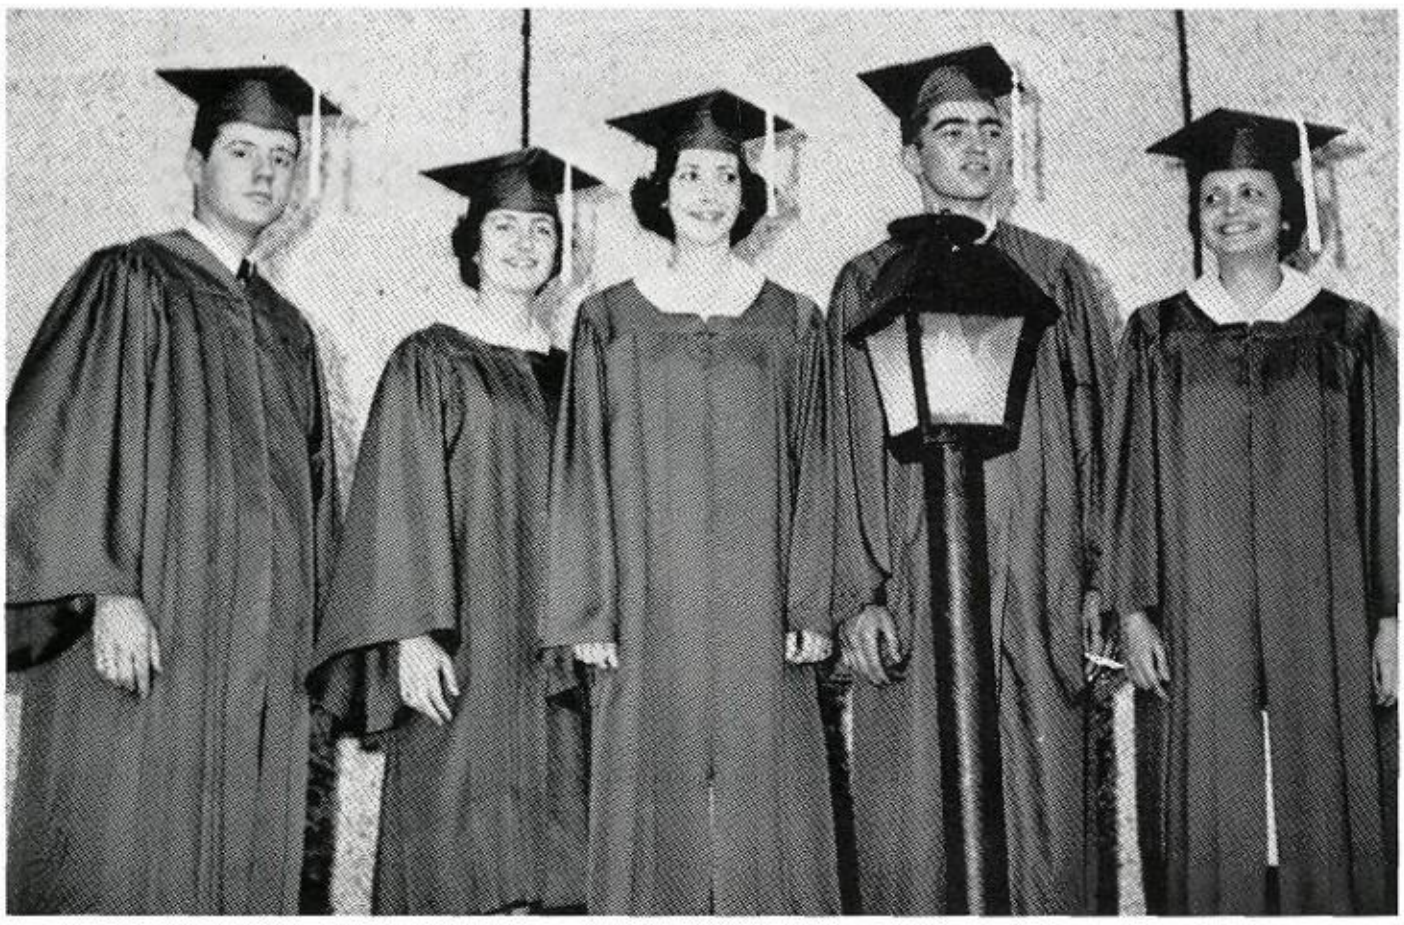
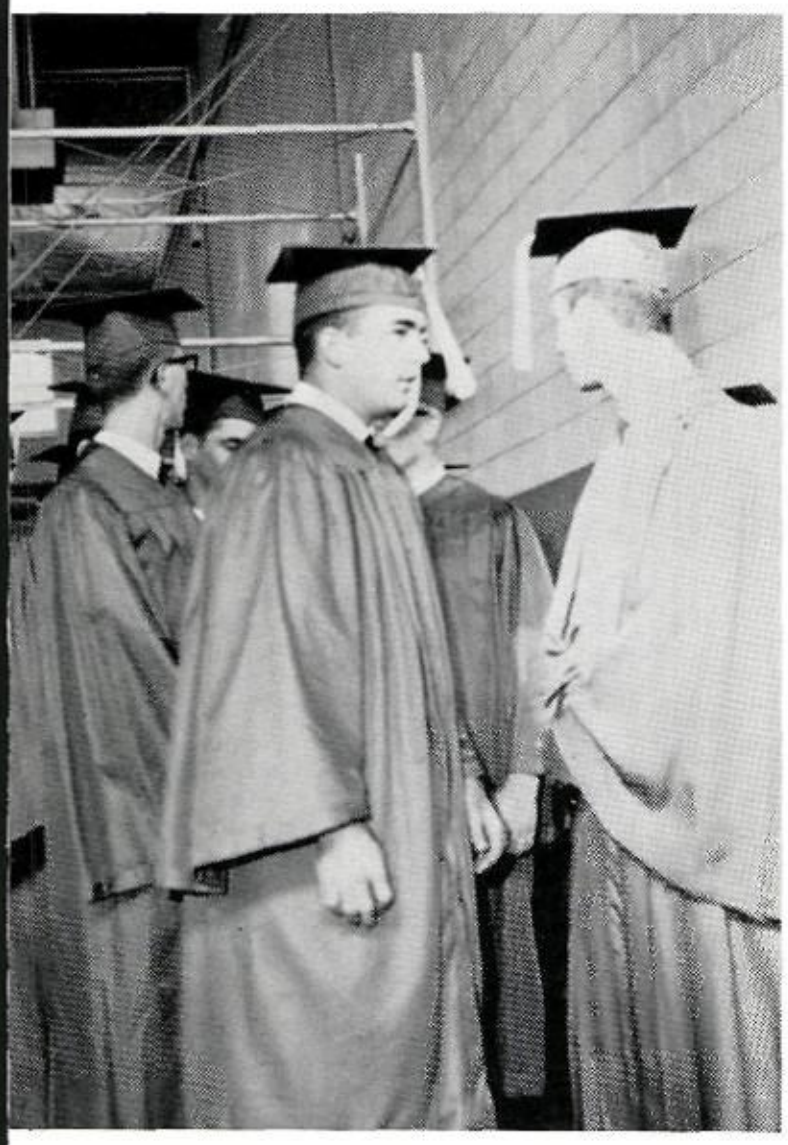
Top Students Honored

Sapulpa High School is known throughout the state for its high number of honor students each year. This year was no exception since the graduating class boasted four Valedictorians and one Salutatorian. Having maintained a 4.0 average in high school and thus serving as Valedictorians were Gary Carr, Diane Logan, Linda Reneau, and Sally Tatum. Ross Rainwater with a 3.9 average served as Salutatorian. All that these students have accomplished has not been easy, and they are to be highly congratulated.

Announcement of this year's honor students was made at the Senio Assembly. Afterwards, Gary, Linda, Diane, Sally, and Ross gather aroun the podium to admire their trophies.



Eager to go on to college, but sad to leave SHS, Ross, Diane, Sally, Gary, and Linda meet in front of the auditorium to talk about the future and reminisce about Commencement.



Paul Sikes chats with other Seniors in line-up.

Susan Carlock, head cheerleader, cheers her team on to victory.

Most Anticipated Awards

Outstanding boy and girl candidates are nominated by the Senior Class on the basis of integrity, leadership, responsibility, and scholarship.

Paul Sikes, outstanding boy, was among the top 10% of his graduating class. His outstanding athletic ability has won him the title, athlete of the year, Co-Captain of baseball, Co-Captain of football, and all-state football. A four year letterman, Paul has lettered in three sports and is the Letterman Club's treasurer. This year he has served as Student Council President and Key Club Vice-President.

Susan Carlock, outstanding girl, was also among the top 10% of her graduating class. Besides being chosen Homecoming Queen and cheerleader, she served as an office assistant. A member of the Honor Roll, Susan was chosen Student of the Month. This year she has served as Youth Board President and Corresponding Secretary of Student Council.

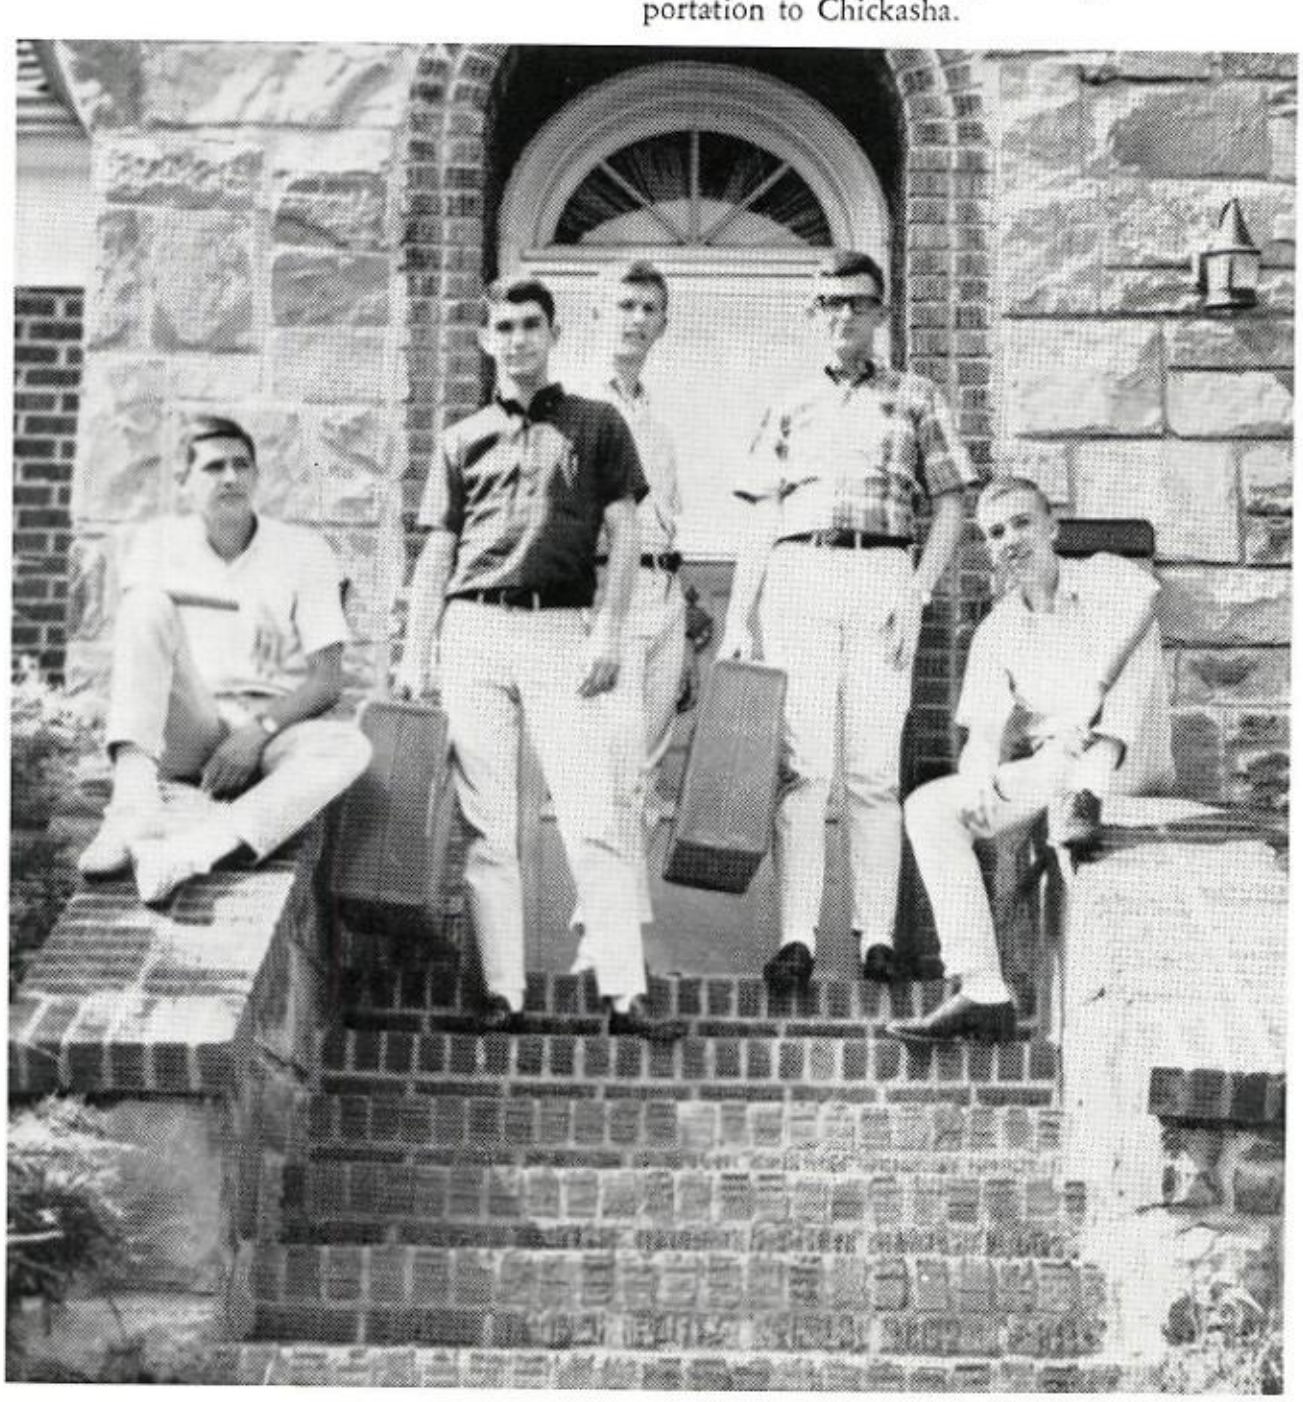
Every month Students of Sapulpa High nominate candidates for Student of the Month. A student is nominated for some outstanding talent, achievement or sports ability. After the students are nominated the list goes to Student Council. There the Student of the Month is elected and presented in the next assembly.

At end of each year a student is chosen Student of the Year. This student is elected by the Student Council from the 9 Students of the Month. Susan Jones was elected Student of the Year for '63-'64.

Boys' and Girls' State

Annually the American Legion selects several outstanding junior boys and girls to attend Girls' State and Boys' State. These are mainly leadership development programs which are held simultaneously at two different colleges in the state for eight days each summer. During these busy days the boys and girls learn, by means of practical instruction, the mechanics of government and the responsibilities and obligations they will undertake when they become adults. They learn also by taking part in the elections of the officials of an imaginary state. After returning each delegate makes a report in the form of a lecture to the club or organization that sponsored him.

Beverly Maulding, Margaret May, Martha Lindley anxiously await their transportation to Chickasha.



Mike Shibley, Tommy Tucker, Jimmy Hayes, Bobby Mathews, Terry Smith prepare to leave for Edmond.

Who's Who in American High Schools

Who's Who in American High Schools is a worthwhile organization. It encourages students to work to the utmost of their ability. Seniors are nominated by the homerooms and student council and screened by the Faculty. Student Council has the final vote. There may be a total of 5% of the senior class chosen. Their selection is based on their leadership, scholarship, service to the school, ability to follow, attitude, and participation in school activities. Their names and biographies are published in a book entitled STUDENT LEADERS. The school receives a copy of the book and the students selected may purchase a book and key.

Mr. John Cockrum presents "Orchids to the Seniors."

Orchids in the Moonlight

Prom and Senior Dinner highlight the social affairs of school year. Seniors are honored with Dinner, which is followed by Junior-Senior Prom. Music is provided by Ken Miller and his orchestra, with the climax of the evening being the selection of Prom Queen by the band.

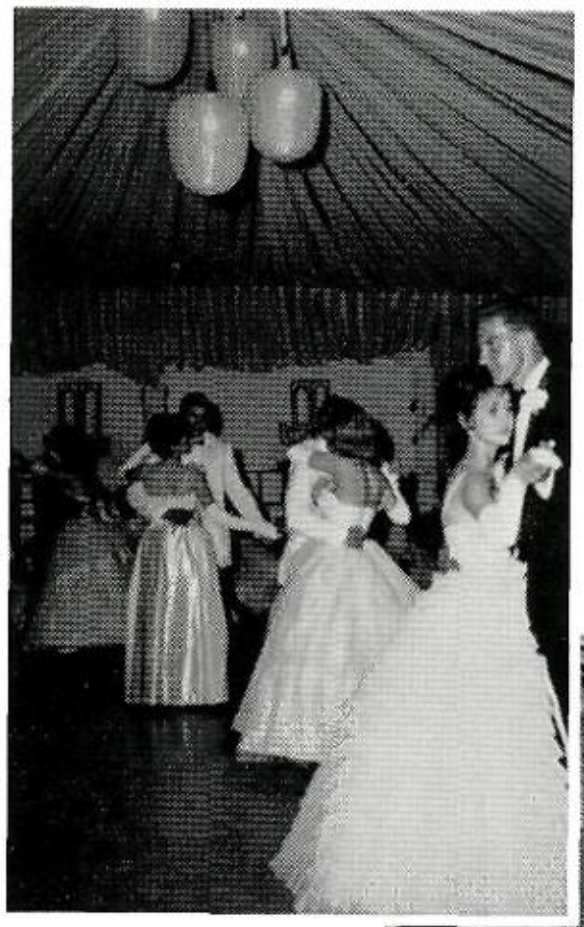
Danny Smeltzer helps seniors review their school days.

Gary Carr performs "Star Eyes."

Faculty members as well as students enjoy "Senior Dinner."

Some pause on patio to make wish in fountain.

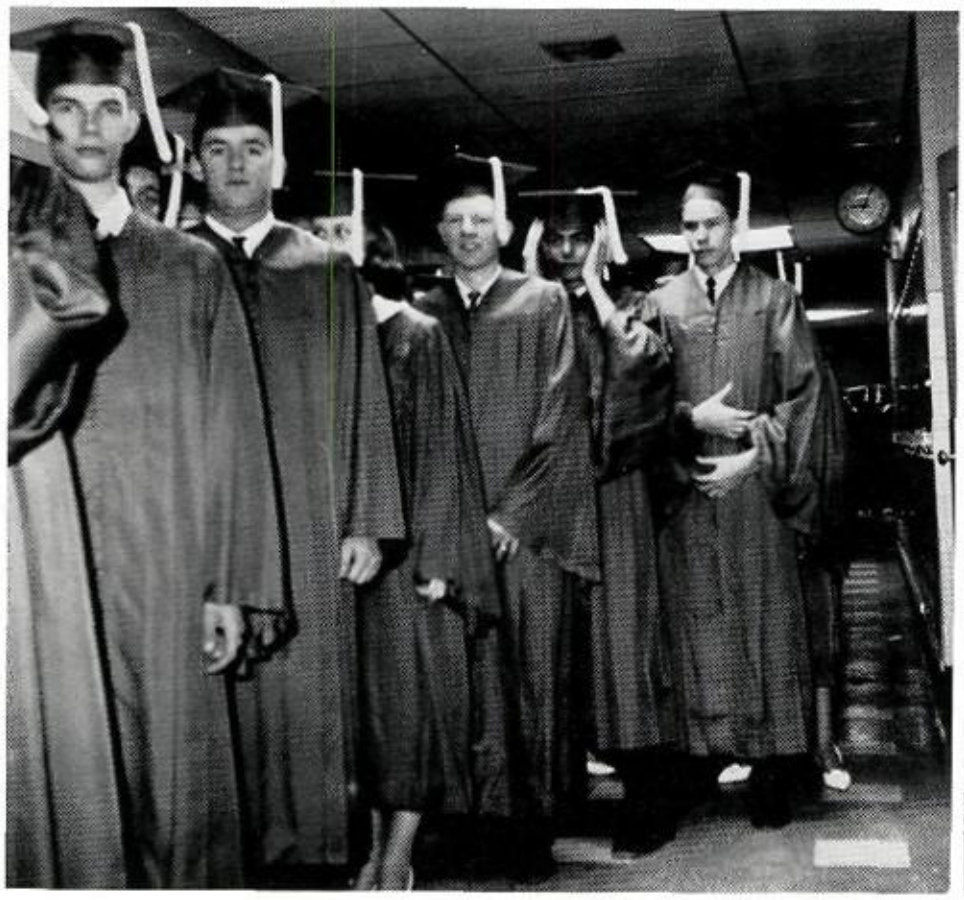
Mr. and Mrs. Cockrum join students in last dance.



Brenda Pitts and Ray Freeman enjoy dancing to the music of Ken Miller and his orchestra.

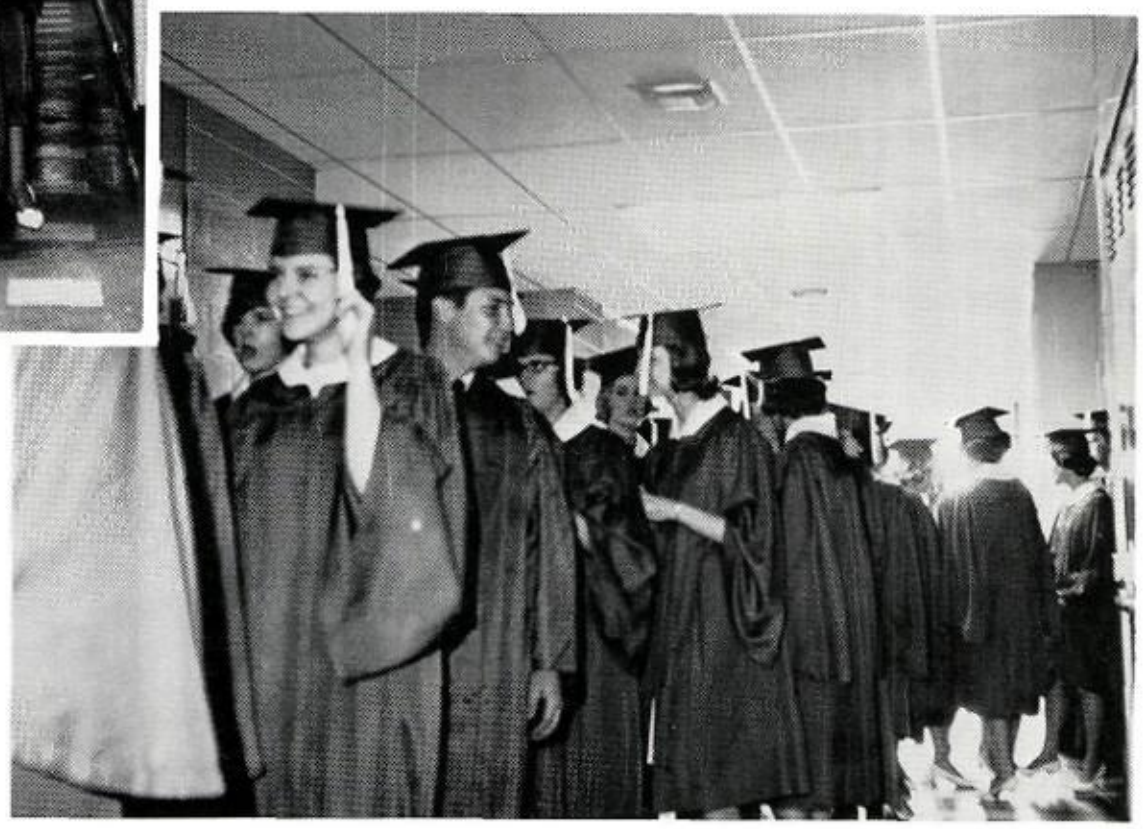
Charming guests admire Prom Queen, Linda Coley, and her escort Lloyd Anderson.

Senior Assembly Climaxes Year's End



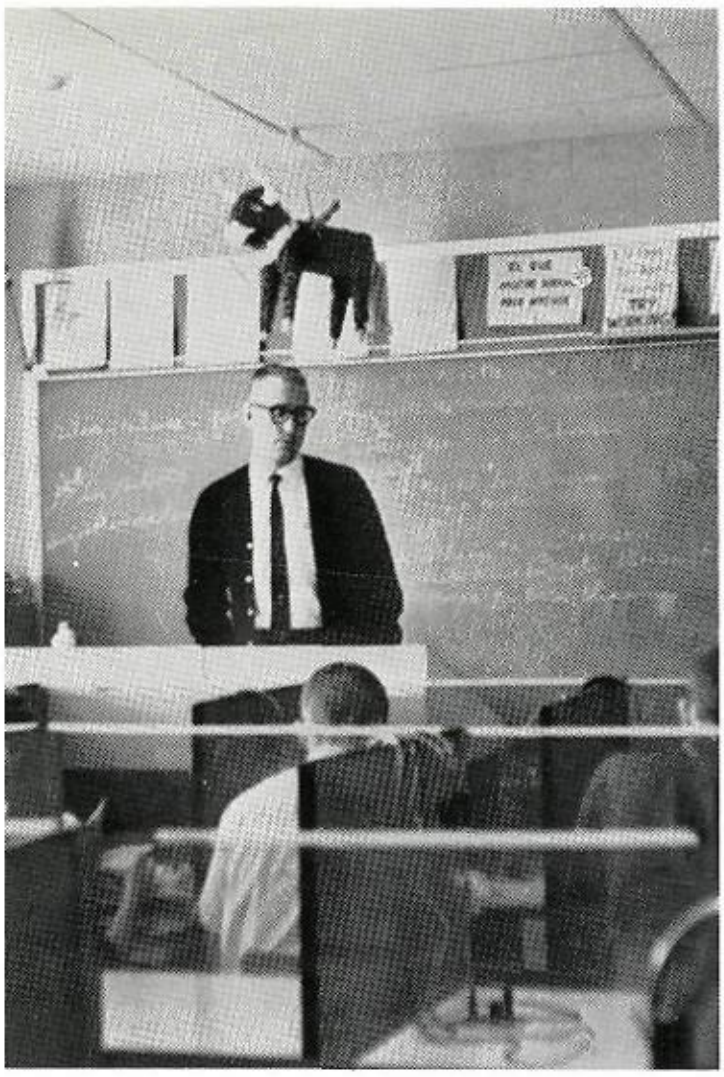
Seniors line up in hall before start of assembly.

"Those Were the Weeks that Were," the annual Senior Assembly, climaxed this '63-'64 school year. Highlights of sophomore, junior, and senior years of the graduating class were presented.



Assembly director, Tre Speakman with Sally Tatum and Dan Smeltzer narrate senior program.

Backstage, seniors await their turn to perform.



Bert Patrick gains first-hand experience in teaching.
